We've been on top of the world of fly fishing since 1978!

In the nearly 50 years since The Fly Shop® first opened the doors we've managed to establish an unparalleled reputation in our sport. The business plan was simple. Surround ourselves with a great selection of products and a team of knowledgeable, fly fishing experts, offer the best service possible, tell the truth, and expect good things would happen. They did!

IT DIDN'T HURT that The Fly Shop® has more that 700 miles of public trout streams and rivers within easy striking distance of those doors, that we're blessed with a temperate climate, or that the section of the Sacramento flowing through town is one of the best tailwater fisheries in the American West. And having two fine steelhead rivers nearby added even more to our formula for success.

Another stroke of fortune, in the form of 18 year-old Mike Mercer, walked in the door while the paint was still wet on the walls. He's still here forty-six years later, having become a world-renowned fly fishing personality, notable fly tier, author, lecturer, and international fly fishing travel expert.

Lots of others were part of The Fly Shop® team as they made their mark in the sport. Brad Jackson, Brian O'Keefe, Andy Burk, Tim Fox, Kara Tripp, and Rachel Connery each made significant contributions to our reputation as they built their own.

Too, the legendary Mel Krieger partnered with The Fly Shop® for nearly a decade, helping us polish the skills of our team of fly casting instructors, build the curriculum of our fly fishing schools, and create the sport's first fly fishing summer camps for kids.

But what first put The Fly Shop® on the map was what is recognized as the largest selection of quality flies in the sport, and a multi-million dollar inventory of those patterns that's required to match the needs of the thousands of fly rodders we send to fishing destinations all over the world.

The growth of our fly selection has been a synergistic process that began with local guides, then expanded to reflect input from the destinations we represent. Knowledgeable guides, lodge owners, and outfitters from all the places we went, from Alaska to Africa to the Amazon told us and showed us what worked.

Then traveling anglers discovered that we had what they needed to fill their fly boxes.

The rise in popularity of Switch, Euro, Spey, Tenkara, and other facets of the sport along with the addition of new fresh and saltwater destinations to The Fly Shop's ever-growing travel portfolio has created a demand for constant expansion of more than just our inventory of flies.

Again, the experts we work with determined what we needed with regard to our selection of fly rods, reels, lines and (in particular) flies.

Along the way, our team became the experts and our lineup of specialized tackle and flies is second to none in the world of fly fishing!

LEE WULFF AWARD
Mike Michalak

IN THE COURSE of more than four decades, The Fly Shop® received just about every significant accolade and award given in the world of fly fishing. It's recognition we're proud of and underscores the fact that the quality of our service and the caliber of our team may be just a cut above a lot of the other great shops out there.

During that time we've also become the largest and most trusted angling travel agent in America, and we outfit thousands of anglers (each year) to every imaginable fresh and saltwater fly fishery on Earth.

We don't just talk about places. We've been there and we know what you need! So, whether you arrange your angling travel yourself, or with us, there's nobody better able to help you choose the right tackle and flies for your next trip.

Let our experts help with

Planning

your next California fly fishing holiday!

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA IS a diverse angling Mecca with a very temperate climate and both reliable fly fishing and good weather nearly every day of the year.

Visiting anglers have a lot of options, and though much of our local fishing is straightforward, there are times (and spots) where any fly fishermen could use a little help.

That's where we come in!

The Fly Shop® has a great team of local experts to help point you in the right direction and help tailor an angling holiday for you and your friends or family that's built around your budget, your ability, and your own interests.

We have the talent to help you get and keep a bend in your rod, and a few local spots that afford privacy and ensure success.

Our guides are full-time local professionals. They're not from out of the area, out of state, out of work, or out of school. Most have been working for us for years, some for decades, and a few have a literal lifetime of experience fly fishing near Redding.

The Fly Shop's guides work together as a team, sharing up-to-the minute information about the most successful locations, effective techniques, and productive flies.

If you're planning to fish in our backyard, give us a call. Make sure that fly fishing holiday is a great one by putting a wealth of knowledge and nearly half century of experience in your boat.

Guide Service

The best fly fishing in The Golden State is within an hour of The Fly Shop's front door!

We're fortunate to have hundreds of miles of local public trout and steelhead waters within striking distance of our parking lot, as well as exclusive angling access to some amazing private properties. In fact, The Fly Shop® is the only outfit holding permits to fish every watershed administered by the Bureau of Land Management and all of the rivers and streams of the Shasta, Trinity, Six Rivers, and Klamath National Forests.

Guided Drift Boat Trips with The Fly Shop®

The Lower Sacramento between Shasta Dam and Red Bluff is a super-productive, year 'round trout fishery. The starting line for most of the angling begins only a rifle shot from our parking lot, and there are no more experienced, talented, or better guides than The Fly Shop's!

Our guides use drift boats to cover approximately 50 miles of the broad, rainbow trout-filled river. Steelhead become a target each fall and a chance to chase fish in relative solitude with either a single-hand or spey rod.

The Lower Sacramento River is a phenomenal year 'round fishery.

Trinity River Steelhead return each fall and winter in often impressive numbers. It's a go-to destination for western steelhead addicts and anglers wanting to tie into sea-going rainbows without having to travel thousands of miles.

Peak season is November thru March

Klamath River steelhead begin pouring into the river each year in late summer. The first run of fish to arrive from the Pacific are the "half-pounders", a unique strain of small, fly-friendly steelies ranging in size from 16″ to 3 or 4 pounds and found only in the Klamath and Rogue rivers (southern Oregon). What they lack in size they make up for in numbers! They're joined by a separate run of adult steelhead in the fall and the Klamath is teeming with significant numbers of both fish by September.

Most of the river is roadless, and guides use jet boats in the lower river to access easily waded, fish-filled runs that are often 300 yards long. During October and November our guides use McKenzie-style drift boats and focus on the more rugged sections of water nearer to the Oregon border.

The 2023 season was phenomenal and we expect next year to be better.

Fall River is in the eastern part of our county. It is renowned for it's prolific hatches, and as the birthplace of many of today's best known spring creek patterns. This is Western selective trout fishing at its finest!

Guides use low-profile prams that have been customized for Fall River.

The year 'round season peaks from May thru October

Walk & Wade Guided Trips on Nearby Rivers

The Upper Sacramento is a favorite walk-and-wade destination featuring nearly 40 miles of classic pocket water, riffles, and pools. Though most of the river is easily accessible from the Interstate. it's an uncrowded fishery with isolated sections and a great deal of solitude.

The river is open year 'round, and fishes best from May through December.

The McCloud River rainbows are unquestionably the most famous trout on Earth, and its hefty browns are a reward for the angler willing to walk into the rugged river canyon water. Spring, mid-summer and fall angling on this famous freestone river is excellent and the scenery is superb all season.

The Pit River is notorious for both tough wading and broad-shouldered rainbows. Recently regulations changed and the Pit is now open year round, with a new flow regime that makes it well worth exploring in the winter months. Normal summer flows are projected to return in 2024 and conditions should translate into productive, season-long access to the entire river.

Hat Creek is renowned for great hatches, selective rainbows and an experience that is a classic chess game of spring creek fly fishing. This is where a quality guide will definitely help anglers accelerate the learning curve.

Our Private Waters

CONCEPT

In 1984 The Fly Shop® recognized that the demand for angling privacy and quality fishing had far outstripped all but the most remote public resources. Then we did something about it.

The Fly Shop has a few places here in the shadow of Mount Shasta where you can get together with your family or a few friends and enjoy great fly fishing all by yourselves. Many of these places have never been open to the public. We've got exclusive access to thirteen miles of small streams, several miles of the magnificent McCloud, half a dozen great lakes and a few private bass and trout ponds.

All of them without another soul around.

Some of our spots have cabins (where you'll need your sleeping bag), while others offer more deluxe accommodations.

The Fly Shop® has a dozen modestly-priced, private fisheries near Redding where you can be sure you and your buddies, friends, kids, or family are going to have great fly fishing and a swell time - without anyone else around!

MOST OF OUR PRIVATE waters destinations have been posted and off-limits to the public for generations. As advocates for public fishing, we decided right away against promoting private waters that were historically "public water".

Some have been behind locks and fences for more than a century. Only Circle 7 Ranch on Fall River shares very limited access with the public.

All of our Private Waters are managed exclusively as catch and release destinations, and we allow only fly fishing with barbless hooks. The angling pressure is kept intentionally light in order to ensure each guest enjoys as fine a fly fishing experience as possible.

We manage our properties to our own high standards and with common sense in mind.

Private Waters with accommodations

ANTELOPE CREEK RANCH rates as the top private fishing destination in California. Guests have access to two superb trophy trout-filled lakes and more than a mile of fish-filled stream.

A maximum of 8 anglers are allowed on the property, and guest accommodations range from small suites with full-equipped kitchens to a deluxe, 8-person, 4-bedroom lodge.

It doesn't get any better than this place!

ROCK CREEK LAKE is our most popular stillwater fishery. Superb float-tubing for large trout with a 2 bedroom, fully furnished cabin.

CLEAR CREEK feeds Whiskeytown Lake west of Redding, and the isolated canyon above the village of French Gulch shelters the longest (nine miles) privately owned stream in California.

Each of the three-mile long beats offers excellent mid-summer trout fishing and features its own, fully furnished cabin (pictured above).

BOLLIBOKKA'S fences surround 3,000+ acres and 7 miles of the famous McCloud.

Weekly guests have exclusive use of the historic accommodations and angling.

Limited, guided winter access is now available.

Day fishing recommendations

BATTLE CREEK RANCH is wild trout fishing at it's best. The fishery is located at the bottom of a rugged canyon and the experience is ideal for the physically fit fisherman whose dream stream includes wet wading, dry flies, and solitude

LUK LAKE is part of the Paskenta tribal rancheria near Corning. The large, low-elevation lake is stocked with trout annually. Access is limited and it's a perfect mid-winter fly fishery less than 3 hours from the Bay Area.

LAKE CHRISTINE is just downstream from our hugely popular fishery, Rock Creek Lake. Only an hour west of Redding, the well-stocked lake offers excellent stillwater fishing in all but the worst of weather.

SUGAR CREEK offers outstanding fishing and optional overnight cabin accommodations alongside eight, deep, spring-fed quarry ponds.

At 3,000 feet elevation, it is cool all summer and a great fall and winter fishery.

Our Private Waters are available only through The Fly Shop® and our network of fly shops

LITTLE OTHER FISHING in the world compares to what we often find near home - and when you step out of your car or off the plane anywhere in the USA you won't be asked for a passport or a visa. You won't have to speak another language, pass a COVID-19 test, wear a mask, exchange your dollars, or go through customs. You're home!

The list of domestic angling The Fly Shop® endorses and represents includes some of the most outstanding lodges and famous fly fishing on the North American continent. Some belong to friends we've trusted to care for our clientele for generations. All of them are places our travel team has visited, vetted thoroughly, and meet the highest standards in the world of fly fishing travel. Ours.

We've been the first choice of international fly fishing travelers and California fishing guides for a generation. For nearly half a century anglers from all over the world have looked in our direction for their next place on the map to head with their fly rod.

Thousands of fishermen have learned to trust our advice on where to go (and what to take).

Now we've added another chapter, expanding our highly respected travel services to include lodge and outfitter recommendations closer to home – from Canada to Mexico.

It was long overdue.

There are several hundred fishing lodges, outfitters, camps, and float trips in Alaska

Every one of them will tell you “my place is the best”

THAT’S WHERE WE COME IN... The Fly Shop® has been representing an elite cross-section of Alaska destinations since 1978. We’ve sent thousands of fly fishermen to lodges, camps and on float trips in the rivers of our 49th state, and we’ve outfitted tens of thousands more with the tackle they needed for their trips north.

▲ Experience – There’s no argument that the travel sales team here at The Fly Shop® are the most knowledgeable Alaska angling travel experts in the sport, and understand what the “best” in Alaska is all about. Independently, The Fly Shop® travel staff has owned several Alaska lodges. We’ve guided there. Our travel team has been to every lodge on the opposite page, and scores of others as well.

▲ Objectivity – We know the ropes, and it’s fair to say that The Fly Shop® knows more about Alaska’s fly fishing than anyone in the angling travel business. Our wealth of knowledge translates into a firm grasp of the top trout and salmon fishing opportunities to be found there.

We also have a well-earned degree of objectivity that interested travellers won’t find elsewhere and the ability to help you choose the right place, plan your trip for the right time, and ensure that you show up with the right stuff.

▲ Our selection of Alaska destinations in the Fly Shop’s travel portfolio is the gold standard in our 49th state. We used a half century of experience in the extensive vetting process, and the result is a great cross-section of locations and different types of lodges, float trips and camps we’ll help tailor to your interests.

▲ Our service doesn’t stop there. Once the location has been decided, we’ll counsel you regarding the selection of the date that best suits your interests and meets your expectations – then use every bit of our influence to guarantee that you get the best available week.

Our team will make sure your travel arrangements dovetail with the schedule and that you show up well-prepared and outfitted for success. You’ll have exactly the right flies, and the appropriate rods, lines and terminal tackle.

Nobody in the angling travel industry does a better job of helping you after you’ve chosen where you’re going. We’ll check and double-check with you at every step of the planning and preparation process to ensure that your angling holiday is successful.

▲ Trust – No angling travel agency has done more, and for as long, to earn the trust and confidence of the community of fly fishermen.

Your guide to the finest fly fishing lodges, float trips, & camps
in Alaska

ALASKA. The very word conjures images of untracked wilderness, brown bears, craggy mountain ranges, wolves, caribou, tundra…and rivers with fish like no other place on Earth. Bright silver salmon shouldering into freshwater rivers, reflecting emerald and purple from the sea, shedding scales and with sea lice clinging to their bellies. Inland rivers choked with spawning salmon, dramatic and stunning in their skins of fluorescent reds and greens. And behind them, rainbow trout, vividly-striped and spotted, each as large (or larger) than the biggest we could ever hope to catch on the "outside".

A visit to Alaska is like tumbling down the rabbit's hole, arriving to a place very different than home. The travel team at The Fly Shop®, has been eagerly jumping into that rabbit hole for nearly 50 years and still remain captivated with the experience of America's last frontier.

Certainly the fishing is the main attraction but, in truth, the pursuit of salmon and trout may be merely the excuse we offer to repeatedly return to a land that touches a wild place deep within us.

Collectively, we know about as much as is possible to understand about the fly fishing opportunities in Alaska. We'd love to share that wealth of knowledge, unravel the sometimes complicated options, and put together a trip better than you might plan without our help.

Give us a call. We've done the homework, so you don't have to!

THE FLY SHOP'S SELECTION OF ALASKAN FLY FISHING LODGES & CAMPS

1 Duncan's Steelhead Camp
Remarkable wilderness steelhead fly fishing on Kodiak Island.

2 Outpost on the Nush
Dawn to dark fishing at a spot where you don't have to move far for a true wilderness trout fishing experience.

3 Royal Wolf Lodge
Rated by our travel veterans as one of Alaska's top fly out lodges. A perfect location with superb guides and trophy trout.

4 Royal Coachman
It doesn't get much better than this isolated, riverside fly-out lodge in the heart of the most prolific salmon and rainbow fishery in our 49th state.

5 Talaheim Lodge
Helicopters, planes, and great rainbow trout fishing nobody else can get to.

6 Hoodoo Lodge
Kings and Silvers 'til you drop in a river custom-tailored for fly fishing.

A kick-ass king, silver, and trout fishery with room for only 8 anglers each week.

21 Rainbow River Lodge
Dead center location for unbeatable trout & salmon fishing.

THE FLY SHOP'S TOP CHOICES IN Chile & Argentina

THE FLY SHOP® has been part of the cutting-edge of South American fly fishing for more than 40 years and our experienced travel staff has spent a collective lifetime exploring Patagonia.

Our first forays to Chile, nearly four decades ago, took us to the historic Lake District near Puerto Montt, made famous by Joe Brooks and Ernie Schweibert in the 1960's. From there we expanded our search for great fishing south beyond the Strait of Magellan to Tierra del Fuego. Now, with four decades of experience under our belt, we're pretty confident that The Fly Shop® staff knows more about fly fishing in Latin America than any other angling travel agent in the business.

We've chosen the lodges, guides, and the outfitters we work with carefully and done our homework, so you don't have to.

Many of the outfitters we work with are those same pioneers who opened the Latin American fly fishing frontier. Often, we were there to help them. Together we brought the first float plane to Chile and explored the uncharted angling of its rugged Patagonia coastline for rainbows and sea trout. The Fly Shop® was instrumental in helping develop the great fishing of Aisen, far south of Puerto Montt. And most veteran Patagonia fly fishermen would agree that The Fly Shop® portfolio of lodges, guides, and outfitters is the finest in all of South America.

We continue to visit most destinations each year and keep our finger on the pulse, remaining intimately familiar not only with each of the exclusive operations we represent, but all of the other fishing destinations around the globe.

We've been proving for forty-six years that there's no one better prepared or more capable of helping plan a successful fly fishing holiday in Chile or Argentina than the travel experts at The Fly Shop®.

Give us a call and let us help you with your fly fishing reservations. Our help doesn't cost a dime. In fact, none of the fishing lodge packages we offer can be found anywhere else in the world for less.

South America's Best

We've been to every one of these places and worked with most of these lodges, outfitters and guides for decades. They represent a well-vetted, cross-section of Chilean and Argentine fly fishing geography, a broad range of price options, and a wide variety of different angling experiences.

Each and every one of the lodges and outfitters we represent has been fully vetted by our staff. They're, hands down, the top-rated sportfishing destinations in all of South America.

Patagonia is a faraway world of gauchos and estancias, where Christmas comes in the middle of the summer, the night sky is full of stars that can't be seen from home, and their hard to pronounce rivers and lakes are full of California's rainbow trout!

RAINBOW TROUT found in Chile and Argentina are descendants of eggs and smolt delivered to Bariloche over ninety years ago from the renowned McCloud River hatchery in Northern California.

Though transplanted from The Golden State hatcheries, these were wild fish in every sense of the word – and they were met with a near-perfect environment; no predators, ideal altitude, a temperate climate, an unlimited, incredibly rich food source, and ice cold water. Soon afterward they were joined by European brown trout, brook trout, and a smattering of salmon. Sport fishing for these species was not then a part of the native tradition or Latin American culture and the fish were left unmolested by anglers for decades.

It wasn't until air travel came of age in the mid-twentieth century that European and North American fishermen became aware of the phenomenal fisheries, full of trout, that flowed east and west from the Andes to the Atlantic and Pacific in a part of the world called Patagonia.

Now, nearly seventy years after Joe Brooks and the early angling pioneers introduced the fishing community to Chile and Argentina, trout fishing there remains an enigma. Many of the best rivers of Patagonia remain isolated, difficult to access without drift boats, rafts, 4WD vehicles, or are often behind locked gates. Like many of our own best North American streams, if it's public and easy to reach, it's probably been hammered.

Only after both countries recognized the tourist value of the resource were protective regulations adopted and those took years to enforce.

Each of the three great Patagonia fishing regions on the Argentine side of the Andes (San Martin de los Andes, Bariloche and Esquel) are unique, with their own menu of fishing and accommodation options.

The most popular Argentine angling itineraries usually involve a few days of fishing at one of the most famous fly fishing estancias; a combination of a few days at a couple of those elegant lodges; or a few days at an estancia along with floating and camping on some remote Patagonia river thronging with trout. Guides provide transportation and move from estancia to another estancia, camp, or float trip with their anglers.

There are fewer rivers, lodges, and guides on the western slope of the Andean cordillera. But what the Chilean experience lacks in numbers, it makes up for in quality. Few destinations on the world's trout fishing map can compare with the level of service, the diversity, or the cultural experience that accompanies the often fabulous fly fishing that's synonymous with all of the lodges, guides, and outfitters we partner with in Chile.

Working together with our outfitters, The Fly Shop® can coordinate lodges, float trips, outfitters, or multiple night camping trips, as well as hotel reservations that'll dovetail with your angling holiday.

Saltwater Fly Fishing

The Fly Shop® has been passionate about flats fishing for nearly half a century.
Collectively our travel team has been fly fishing saltwater for more than 150 years.
We know where to go, when to be there, what to use, and what we're talking about!

SOON AFTER the fly shop's doors opened in '78 we started an angling travel division, working with the Fitzgerald family at Frontiers and our friends at Fishing International.

We began representing saltwater places we already knew - Deep Water Cay Club (Grand Bahama Island), Peace & Plenty Inn (Great Exuma), Inn of the Sun (Honduras) Dave Bennett's Turneffe Island Lodge (Belize), the legendary Charlie Smith's Haven (Andros Island), and Boca Paila (Mexican Yucatan).

Our first home run was Christmas Island. It was phenomenal! Inexpensive, easily waded, easy to get to, incredibly productive, and it opened the eyes of dozens of western fly fishermen every month of the year to a fascinating new facet of our sport.

We worked with the Venezuelan government for three years to open their off-shore national park, Los Roques, to sport fishing. Another winner. Then we started chasing down every wild bonefish and tarpon rumor we heard about.

Too, we stumbled on two new flies that absolutely kicked ass, and when word got out, travelers from all over started looking in our direction for flies that would work in faraway places.

The Fly Shop® travel team was among the first to explore the Venezuelan coastline for tarpon and permit, and take a look at the fly fishing on Tetiaroa, Rangiroa, Manihiki, Fakarava, Aitutaki, Kia Ora, and other of the islands in French Polynesia. We probed the Turks & Caicos, the British West Indies, Cannon Island, Canton, and Penrhyn Island with our fly rods.

We searched the Bay Islands of Honduras, leased a yacht for several summers in the 80's to cruise the coastline of Belize to find the saltwater El Dorado, and hired live-aboards in Cuba and the Indian Ocean, just for fun. We camped in the Abaco Marls, and to cover all the bases our travel team personally visited every lodge and fished nearly every flat in The Commonwealth of the Bahamas.

We've gone to a lot of trouble to try to find the perfect places, and drilled a few dry holes. In the process we learned how to distinguish between the good places, the great places, and the Shinola®.

We learned there's no substitute for first-hand experience, every place can't be the best, and that when anglers are sifting though the confusing maze of destinations they need to be able to rely on someone with experience – someone they can trust to tell them the truth and help find the places that best suits their interests and wallets.

That's where we come in!

Saltwater Lineup

A partial list of the lodges & destinations we represent on the saltwater fly fishing map

THE BAHAMAS is undoubtedly the most popular saltwater flyfishing destination on Earth, with variety, and a cross-section of different targets and experiences, great lodges, and talented guides.

andros island bonefish club
Dead center in the middle of 1,000 square miles of picture-perfect, fish-covered flats.

andros south lodge
Hard-core flats fishing with a squad of superb guides and a lodge well off the beaten path.

bair's
Deluxe accommodations, first-class guides and a top location on the east side of Andros.

swain's cay
Escape to peace, tranquility, modest pricing and great bonefishing in a picture-perfect setting.

east end lodge
Talented guides and perfect for those who miss the Deep Water Cay angling experience.

h^{2}o bonefishing
This upscale Grand Bahama getaway is ideal for both hard-core anglers, families and couples.

little abaco bonefish lodge
This jewel in the tiny village of Crown Haven is home to lots of bones, barracuda, and permit.

crooked & acklins lodge
No frills, just great guides, good food, and a cozy lodge surrounded by shallow, firm, easily waded flats.

soul fly fishing lodge
This highly acclaimed lodge affords anglers an opportunity to fish the famed Berry Island flats.

north riding point club
An elegant beach-front bonefish lodge on Grand Bahama's south shoreline with private access to some of the Bahamas finest flats.

the delphi club
Just minutes away from the fabled Marls on the west side of Abaco, and more than 200 square miles of backcountry bonefishing mars bay bonefish lodge

Easy access to miles and miles of hard sand flats, and trophy bones.

mangrove cay club
Everything about this Andros Island spot is top tier, and we couldn't recommend it more highly!

TOP SPOTS IN THE YUCATAN

espiritu santo bay lodge
High demand requires that interested anglers secure reservations far in advance, because it's the most popular and productive permit, snook, bonefish, and tarpon lodge in the Caribbean!

casa blanca
First-class in every imaginable way - location, guides, lodging, equipment, cuisine, & service!

palometa club
Only minutes from the flats of Ascension Bay, a cadre of skilled Yucatan guides qualifies this as one of the Yucatan's top permit operations!

playa blanca
One of only two lodges on the isolated Bahia Espiritu Santo, space is very limited at this small and isolated beachfront angling resort in the heart of the famous Sian Ka'an biosphere.

THE BEST OF BELIZE

blue horizon
This off-shore lodge is located dead-center in the heart of Belize's most prolific permit flats.

belize river lodge
The most experienced lodge in the country with a top-tier team of guides and accommodations.

turneffe flats
Belize's premier saltwater fly fishing, SCUBA, and marine eco-touring destination!

el pescador
Enjoys an unparalleled reputation among both serious anglers and holiday-happy vacationers.

copal tree lodge
A terrific combination of high-end lodging, fine dining, and top flight angling. This is definitely Belize's most luxurious angling resort.

CHRISTMAS ISLAND has re-opened after a three-year pandemic-enforced hiatus. The huge atoll rates as one of the top spots in the world to wade and sightfish for an always amazing number of aggressive bonefish.
Packages are modestly priced and reliable Honolulu flights to the angling paradise now arrive & depart on Tuesdays.

Give us a call about Baja! Our travel portfolio includes a trio of renowned flyfishing hotspots in the Sea of Cortez and along Baja's Pacific shoreline. Yellowfin Tuna, sailfish, roosterfish, marlin and more!

Fly fishing in the Jungle

Powerful Peacock Bass, fanged Payara, ass-kicking Dorado and monstrous Arapaima are only a few of the reasons to make your next fishing trip a true angling adventure!

THERE IS REASON enough to be charmed by Latin America's tropics. Jungle rivers harbor muscle-bound Dorado and powerful Peacock Bass that'll rip a fly rod out of your hands. Mesomorphic Pacu, fanged Payara, and gargantuan Arapaima will test your skill level, demand new fly fishing tools, and challenge your stamina. In fact, the rivers of the Amazon shelter more species of fish than the entire Atlantic Ocean.

At or near the top of the list of angling targets are the spectacular Golden Dorado. Often found in crystal clear streams and rivers, it's a fish built like a King Salmon on steroids with terrible orthodonture and a bad attitude. Tie the two species tail-to-tail, and a Dorado would first pull the scales off the Chinook, then turn around and eat it.

Each of the jungle destinations we represent will introduce you to more than just another fishing trip. Every spot is a world-class, action-packed fly fishing adventure, surrounded by exotic jungle, and bathed in tropical climate. Every fish-filled day at any one of these places is a real-life National Geographic event choreographed by Mother Nature at her most sensuous.

Fly fishing the jungle is an experience surrounded by spectacular scenery, birds, and wildlife, highlighted by a sound track right out of a Tarzan movie!

Freshwater Dorado range in size from 5 to 50 pounds. They are ruthless migratory predators with only three modes of behavior – kill, eat, and reproduce. You've got to hook one of these aerial acrobats in order to fully comprehend their power, strength, and ferocity.

Hotspots for Dorado

pluma lodge, bolivia
No argument. The absolute top-tier destination in the world of Dorado fishing with a fly.

sécure & agua negra lodges, bolivia
These small, limited occupancy, sister lodges to the legendary Pluma are strategically located along several isolated, clear Amazon streams. Guests enjoy optional outcamps and angling for migrant Dorado that have seldom been seen.

píra lodge, argentina
A luxury, Dec. to April, fishing resort in what is the essentially unexplored, uninhabited, aquarium-like waters of the remote Iberá Marsh.

dorado on the fly, argentina
The Upper Parana, birthplace of the passion and enthusiasm that feeds the sport of Dorado fishing!

golden dorado cruiser, argentina
The perfect way to spend the first or last few days of a visit to Patagonia is a continuation to the seldom-fished water of the fabulous, Dorado-infested straits of the Parana aboard the Gypsy.

Untamed Angling photos

The Fly Shop's Jungle Lineup

The best of Brazil, Bolivia, Colombia, & Africa

rio marié, brazil
Luxury liveaboard with exclusive access to over 300 miles of the number one trophy Peacock Bass river in the Amazon!

pirarucu, brazil
Hookups with giant, powerful Arapaima are just routine in this jungle preserve.

kendjam, brazil
The crystal clear Iriri is a fly-friendly freestone fishery full of exotic target species.

xingu river, brazil
Arguably the top spot in the Amazon for trophy Payara, the jungle's vicious vampire fish.

afloat, colombia
A first-class, mobile river camp with non-stop, dawn-to-dusk Peacock Bass action in a breathtaking, isolated, verdant jungle atmosphere.

agua boa, brazil
Selected by Forbes magazine as "one of the top 10 fishing lodges in the world!"

eco fishing lodge, brazil
This fabulous floating lodge has every amenity, a location second-to-none in the Amazon, variety, and easy access to an impressive population of both Peacock Bass and trophy-sized Payara.

magnificent mataveni, colombia
Home to 6 of the top historic, 10 IGFA world records and recently opened by the natives to the first angling in decades.

africa's tanzania tigerfish
The strike of a tigerfish is dramatic, and every epic, non-stop, finger-shredding fight is punctuated by unimaginable, gravity-defying displays of leaps.

Hands down, this is not only the best tigerfishing Africa has to offer, but our two streamside camps rate as among the worlds finest angling experiences!

My name is Marcelo and I'm an addict. It's not booze or drugs, it's the Jungle.

I know it's hard to understand, but I get high just thinking about hooking up with a trophy peacock, and feel weak in the knees at the thought of connecting with an arapaima the size of an alligator.

I'm Argentine, and it might surprise you to know that I come from a good family. Catholic school. My friends are Patagonia trout fishermen. Who would guess?

I'm well-educated and had a great job before all of this. An architect one minute and then the Amazon buries its fangs into my soul.

I wear a mask, and long-sleeves for both protection and to hide the damage left by too many hours in the sun. Gloves shield scars on my index and forefinger from line burns and I've got permanent calluses from countless hours of repetitive casting.

Me, I can't sleep at night without dreaming of trying to tempt some finned predator from his subsurface hideout.

And when I do drift off, there are the recurring nightmares. The savage strike and then slow motion aerial unbuttoning of the fish-of-a-lifetime. Complete with the all too familiar feel of a limp line, and maybe a pigtail.

You need a fix? I know just the guys. They're addicts, too.

Taimen & Trout in Mongolia

The steppes of Mongolia offer more than monster Taimen!

MONGOLIA IS the least densely populated country in the world. It's roughly the size of Alaska, 2.25 times the size of Texas, and most of the country is a vast wilderness. The homeland of the fierce nomad warrior Genghis Khan, Mongolia is also a cultural odyssey, a land forgotten by time. It's a foreign country sparsely populated by nomads living off the land, tending their herds of cows, sheep, goats, yaks, and camels, where only the sport fish are fierce and the people are unbelievably friendly and very pro-American.

The Fly Shop's Mongolian fishing adventure targets the magnificent Taimen, a unique species of fish seldom found elsewhere and takes place in a part of the world most people have only read about in books.

Taimen are the largest salmonid on Earth and consider anything smaller than themselves to be on their diet.

Northern Mongolia is a place of snowcapped mountains, vast golden forests of birch, aspen, larch and alder, and meadows filled with wildflowers. It is home to some of the world's largest remaining tracts of true wilderness and is rich with clear, free-flowing rivers that have carved their way through dramatic canyons and wind their way through majestic valleys.

And of course there are the taimen, the largest salmonid on Earth – giant predators, that consider anything smaller than themselves to be on their diet. Even each other!

These float trips are beyond any other imaginable angling experience, to an unbroken land reminiscent of the American West before settlement. These trips will disconnect you from your normal life and are guaranteed to leave you and your companions with a lifetime of great memories.

The days begin and end in spectacular, semi-permanent camps. Accommodations are spacious, traditional, carpeted yurts, with hot showers, plenty of good food, and an unforgettable Mongol support staff that moves from camp to camp with the group.

The fly-savvy river team combines well-educated, English-speaking Mongols with a nucleus of very talented, experienced, international and native guides.

Westerners usually arrive by way of Seoul, and plan a few days in Mongolia's fascinating, historic capitol, Ulaanbaatar, exploring the city, shopping, and decompressing before the short flight (or scenic drive) to the frontier steppes and the first of a series of unforgettable riverside camps.

mongolia's fishing season runs from mid-June through late October. Guests enjoy riverside ger camps, and a spectacular 6 or 7 full day fishing float trip. They're pampered by native staff who usher their anglers through some of the most intriguing water and most beautiful wilderness terrain imaginable.

THE FLY SHOP'S

Fly Selection

Marcel Siegle photo

We've been outfitting fly fishermen since 1978, and for all of those 46 years we've been sending serious anglers to fresh and saltwater angling destinations throughout the sporting world, with their boxes filled with the best commercial flies ever made. Ours!

WHEN WE OPENED our doors nearly half a century ago, we understood that we'd always be measured by the quality and diversity of our fly selection.

We made the decision to offer only the best quality and most innovative patterns available. We figured most anglers would recognize well-tied flies (using the best hackle and the strongest and sharpest hooks) actually catch more fish, and they'd be unwilling to accept anything less than our standard of excellence. Forty-six years later you continue to prove us correct.

Some categories include patterns that were recommended by renowned guides and expert anglers in the field of fresh and saltwater fly fishing.

The next 30 pages of this catalog includes a selection of the most effective flies in our sport.

Others were developed by our own staff or picked up during our travel. The common denominator is that every single one of the patterns has proven effective. We know what works from California to Alaska to Tierra del Fuego, from Montana to Mongolia, and from the Amazon's jungle rivers to the saltwater flats of the Caribbean and Indian Ocean.

Whether you're heading to the next county or another hemisphere, we're pretty sure you'll find the correct, most effective, time-tested fly for the place you're going in one of our selections. We're confident because we've been there.

And if you want more help, or advice, just give us a call.

THE FLY SHOP'S

Spring Creek & Stillwater Dry Fly Selection

Each of these flies has been battle-proven on the most demanding stillwaters and spring creeks from Patagonia to Pennsylvania!

SPRING CREEK TROUT can be intimidating. Slow water gives them all the time in the world to inspect your dry fly, and often that is just too much time. To combat this, fly tiers are in the never-ending search for patterns which override this obstacle, flies to convince a skeptical fish that the morsel is real and which trigger the feeding response. This was exactly my mindset when designing the new Stealth Link. The standard Missing Link has been fooling fish the world over for the past decade, and continues to do so remarkably to this day; yet over the past couple of years I have noticed trout in the flat water sections of my beloved Hat Creek have sometimes been giving it a last-second refusal. This both frustrated me and ignited the challenge to overcome whatever shortcomings were at play, and make design changes to solve them.

So I did what I usually do when creating a pattern for a specific insect emergence, trundling down to the water during a hatch with a fine mesh net, Petri dish, and magnifying glass, sacrificing a bit of prime fishing time to collect bug samples and watch them up close and personal in the process of emergence. What I discovered was not really a surprise after all these years, but there were a few minor-yet-significant observed details on the emerging and freshly-emerged mayflies which found their way into the new version of the Link. Specifically, tail shucks (in addition to the body shuck – something West Coast spring creek guru Bob Quigley designed into his Film Critic series years ago), and beautifully vivid, glossy, segmented bodies. I hope you enjoy this new addition to our Spring Creek offerings.

Caddis comprise half of all the aquatic biomass in our own Lower Sacramento River in California.

Though the Lower Sac boasts healthy emergences of various mayflies and stoneflies, for sheer consistency and diversity of hatches, nothing outshines the river'scaddis populations. There may not be a day of the year when some flavor of caddis isn't emerging, and we've got patterns that work incredibly well here and in other rivers, as well!

Terrestrials

These land-borne critters are often the key to mid-summer and fall trout fishing success

THERE'S PROBABLY no more popular terrestrial than the grasshopper. It's easy to see, easy to use, very effective, and should be in every fly rodder's fly box. As summers progress, the weather warms, grasslands dry, hoppers get larger and in their search for food and moisture move closer and closer to stream banks and the shorelines of lakes and ponds.

Terrestrials (arthropods) are the largest of the animal phylum and include insects, spiders, ants, grasshoppers and crustaceans; just about everything crawling on the river bank. From a trout's perspective, they're a helpless, protein-rich entreé without a prayer of escape once they're blown into the water.

Fly fishermen should always have a modest selection of terrestrial imitations on hand in a few sizes. The proper choice certainly depends on time of the season, the weather, how rough the stream or how smooth the stillwater might be, how strong the wind is blowing and how sophisticated or wary the trout are at the moment.

The rivers, spring creeks, lakes, and lagoons of Patagonia are loaded with terrestrial bug life during the short four month season, December through March. Long and warm summer days create ideal growing conditions for grasshoppers, beetles, cicadas, ants, and just about any other winged critter that crawls on land and eventually ends up on the water. Big high floating foam-bodied flies with easy-to-see wings and rubber legs are fished close to the bank where unsuspecting hungry rainbow and brown trout lay in ambush. Wind is your friend in this type of fly fishing and when conditions are right, expect a high number of trout brought to hand. It's Patagonia trout fishing at its best!

A KEY TO CATCHING BIG TROUT

Caddis Nymphs

If you are fishing a trout stream in America, the odds are very good there are caddis crawling or swimming around your boots, or flying above your head!

When you're in a quandary

CADDIS ARE among the most diverse, widespread, and fascinating forms of trout chow. They are important to anglers in each of their life stages, vary in size from tiny to huge, and savvy anglers will have a complete selection in their fly box. Dredge larva patterns deep beneath an indicator, swing pupa on a tight line, and dead-drift or twitch dry caddis to the explosive rises that give away fish feeding on skating adults.

If you're on new water and don't know what to fish, tie on a caddis!

Dead-drifting caddis nymphs is a deadly technique, but when caddis pupa swim up from the bottom to emerge, trout go crazy for them just beneath the surface; swing a pupa across and down, steelhead-style, for aggressive tight-line grabs. Tip: When you feel the take, lift the rod gently, or risk a broken tippet!

The magnificent Sacramento River, only minutes from our door, is our fly testing laboratory

THE FLY SHOP® STAFF HAS a well-deserved reputation as sophisticated nymph fishermen. Our team of guides helped pioneer many of the fly patterns and techniques now considered standard in both the steelhead and trout fishing community. And our catalog pages are often the first to introduce the "hot" new flies to the world of flyfishing.

There's never been a better tied and assembled assortment of quality, productive nymphs than you'll find on these pages. Our flies are very durable. Every one is tied to our own exacting standards, using only the finest hooks and best quality materials.

Midges

THESE LITTLE GUYS are found everywhere, and all the time. If a fish isn't eating a stonefly, mayfly, terrestrial, or caddis, it's probably feasting on tiny midges. The technical name for these small, double-winged insects is chironomids.

Don't let their size fool you – they're small, but not insignificant, and lots of trophy-sized trout are hooked on these mini-flies!

Because they are small, it's not important to get technical matching a midge hatch. Search your box for the fly closest to the size, silhouette, and color (in that order).

Freshwater Streamers & Leeches

Big trout love big meals, and streamers and leeches offer them just that. Whether it's a sculpin pulled off the bank in Montana, a flesh streamer swung behind spawning salmon in Alaska, or a small leech twitched in a weedy stillwater, these flies get the job done.

LAVA CREEK LODGE

One of the best king and silver salmon lodges in the world, we only recently discovered there are also big rainbows at Lava Creek Lodge! And these healthy trout love nothing more than a fast-stripped smolt pattern, slow-swung articulated flesh streamer, or a big, juicy egg-sucking leech. And don't forget to throw in a handful of Mr Hankey mice to pull them to the surface! (see page 82)

Steelhead Flies

WE BUILT OUR REPUTATION pointing our clientele, friends, and fly rods at steelhead on the Klamath, Trinity, Eel, Mad, Smith, and the other famous rivers in the Pacific Northwest.

There are few spots in the Western Hemisphere, from the wild steelhead rivers of Kamchatka to the seldom fished water in Southern Argentina where we haven't chased these fish and figured out the flies.

The Fly Shop's Steelhead Tube Fly Selection and their advantages:

▲ Low mortality: If a fish swallows the hook, cut the leader: the hook will dissolve without causing more harm. Just replace the hook and continue fishing.

▲ Options: The pattern size and style of a tube fly aren't dependent on hook style or size.

▲ Land more fish: When fighting the fish, less hook leverage with shorter shank hooks result in a higher percentage of fish landed.

▲ Durability: Tube flies last longer. During the fight, the tube fly slides up the leader and away from sharp teeth.

▲ Re-useable: If the hook breaks or dulls, simply replace the damaged hook and continue fishing the same tube fly.

▲ Easy adjustments: Add brass, aluminum or tungsten tube bodies, or use cones or beads for more weight and to adjust the sink rates of tube flies.

The Fly Shop's Top Mouse Patterns

These are the best nine choices in the world of fly fishing for those anglers who want to try fishing a mouse in Alaska, Mongolia, Canada, or anywhere else there's a healthy population of field mice or lemmings near trout water.

Mr. Hankey Size 4 $5.95
#494F
This is our favorite. The Hankey in either size is the most productive and fish-friendly (least lethal) imitation of a mouse ever tied. The up-eye trailer hook usually stings trout in the upper lip, misses gills, and insures a harmless release.

Mighty Mouse Size 4 $8.95
#584F
The accurate, large profile tosses a huge wake. It's an irresistible rough water imitation, though difficult to cast with light (6 weight) fly Rods.

Mouse Rat Size 6 $5.95
#162F

Mini Hankey Size 6 $5.95
#494F

Morrish Mouse 2.0 Size 2 $4.95
#106F

Mercer's Lemming Size 2 $8.95
#192F
A great, but very lethal trout pattern that is best suited for largemouth bass.

RL Stinger Mouse Size 4 $3.95
#234F

Articulated Hood Rat Size 4 $4.95
#950F
Unlike most mouse patterns, the Hood Rat casts easily, skates all day long, and is highly durable. Designed by long-time alaskan guide, this mouse is one of our top two choices!

Mini Mouse Size 10 $5.95
#125F

The Fly Shop's Alaska Leech Selection

Wherever you fish in freshwater, you'll find leeches. They're a first choice for trout, steelhead, salmon, bass, and sea trout. Often they're the only choice!

Fill your box with a variety of different sizes and colors.

Living Leech Size 2 $3.95
#213F Black/Chartreuse, Tan/White

Egg Sucking Bunny Leech Size 2 $1.95
#203F Purple, Black

Egg Sucking Jig Wiggler Leech Size 4 $2.95
#251F Purple, Black

String Leech Size 2 $4.95
#240F Pink/Purple, Black/Red, Black/Blue

Articulated Marabou Leech Size 2 $4.95
#215F

Mercer's Poxyegg Leech Size 4 $2.50
#586F

Hareball Leeches Size 1/0 $4.95
These fast sinking streamers pull triple-duty as king salmon, steelhead and silver salmon patterns. They are superb flies on bright days for kings and silvers and very effective in the early morning hours for steelhead.
#777F Purple, Black, Orange/Pink, Orange/Chartreuse, Bubblegum Pink

Fishing a mouse fly for trophy trout...

THE TECHNIQUE is simple and seldom varies. Quarter the fly downstream, beginning as close to the bank as possible and pay close attention to any structure. Keep the tip low, the line taut, and add a bit of motion occasionally with the rod tip. As the fly swings in the current, it'll give off enough of a wake to bring fish from the first down marker.

These rodents are a staple on the trouts' diet in Alaska.
Large trout will chase them and attack again and again, attempting to pull the "mouse" below the surface and drown it before devouring the varmint.

Exciting is an understatement. Anglers should be required to have an EKG before being allowed to use a mouse in Alaska, where it isn't unusual to hook dozens of large rainbows every day on the surface using mice imitations.

If you love catching oversized leopard 'bows on a mouse and are looking for a place in Alaska to spend a week doing it, give us a call! We know where the best mousing in the 49th state can be found.

Alaska Flies

In salmon country, the flesh of decomposing fish is at the top of the trout menu. It's loaded with protein, easy to digest, and the rivers of the Pacific Northwest, and Alaska are full of carcasses in the fall. Dead-drifting or stripping these carcass patterns is a devastating method for catching late summer and fall trophy trout and char.

Silver Salmon Wogs

What Silvers lack in size when compared to King Salmon, they make up for in numbers and aggressive behavior. They'll attack a fly all day long and are often caught in numbers large enough to exhaust even the most intrepid angler.

Like most anadromous fish they're negaphototropic. They don't like the bright daylight and become more and more shy as the sun rises. In the early morning hours Silver Salmon are at their most aggressive and often strike a skated surface fly.

Skating fluorescent or large pink floating flies ("pollywogs") across the surface is an exciting wrinkle to the Alaska Silver Salmon fly fishing experience.

Egg Imitations

Glo Bugs were a local Redding creation more than 50 years ago and have spawned several generations of imitations, knock-offs, and variations. Whatever your feeling about these eggs and omelets, they're high on the list of trout food in the Pacific Northwest.

Salmon drop their eggs, and their specific gravity carries them to the bottom. Fertilized eggs begin to decompose, form nitrogen, become more buoyant, begin to float along the bottom and create an amazing chow line.

The Two Top Permit Flies in Mexico

JAN ISLEY'S Raghead Crab (pictured far left) sparked a revolution in '91 for permit fishermen in Mexico's Ascension Bay. Suddenly anglers had a tool in their box these uncooperative fish would eat.

Caribbean permit began to be caught routinely, and more and more fly rodders added these wary critters to their daily list of targets on the flats.

Productivity spiralled even higher as native guides in Mexico and Belize refined their techniques and made subtle changes to the color, weight, and materials used to tie the short list of effective permit fly patterns.

The ESB series of flies (products of a team of sophisticated saltwater anglers, talented Mayan guides, and Dane Emerson – the owner of Espiritu Santo Bay Lodge) were the real game changers.

These two permit patterns have accounted for a good portion of just over 2,000 permit landed at Espiritu Santo Bay Lodge in 5 years!

Bryan Quick photo

REDDING'S ELEVATION is only 564 feet. We're at the extreme upper end of the Sacramento basin and two magnificent volcanoes, Mount Shasta and Mount Lassen, tower above our valley floor. As you leave town in 3 directions (north, east, and west), the California Valley Oaks quickly give way to the pine-covered forests of the Sierras and the Trinity Alps. There are about 730 miles of public trout streams and rivers within an hour and a half drive.

Closer to home, our surrounding foothills are dotted with bass ponds, and lowland lakes. These placer-mine remnants of California's Gold Rush are filled with bass and other warmwater species.

As competition for quality trout fishing water becomes more intense, the warmwater aspect of the sport is getting a lot more attention and The Fly Shop® is ready with a great fly selection.

Atlantic Salmon Flies

A Tradition of Excellence

FLY FISHING for Atlantic Salmon has a long rich history which originated in Northern England. While much of the equipment first used by these original anglers such as reels and especially lines, leaders, and rods have made vast and dramatic improvements over the years, many of the classic fly patterns developed on the other side of the pond decades ago, are still as relevant and probably more popular than when they were originally created.

Many variations are models of artistry that are immaculately crafted, made to be displayed in shadow boxes hung on the wall to be admired, appreciated and not fished or to ever see water, where others are meant to be fished and are a vital part of an anglers box over 170 years later. Flies such as the Jock Scott or The Silver Doctor with so much popularity and history, it is no surprise that there have been so many variations of these original patterns and have brought thousands of Atlantic salmon to the bank over the years.

George Frederick McCorquodale caught 8,924 salmon in the River Spey. His favorite fly was the Jock Scott!

Modern substitutes from easily sourced synthetic materials have taken the place of exotic bird feathers and animal fur that were once used in the original recipes, which has allowed these enduring patterns to live on and continue to prove to be effective.

Hooks and Fly Tying materials have come a long way in recent years and there is still room for innovation and creativity in the area of new fly development. But in the Atlantic salmon circle, not much has changed over the years.

Classics like the Collie dog, created in the late 18th century, and the Green Highlander in the late 19th century as well as "newer" patterns such as the Temple dogs, Sunray Shadows and Willie Gunns are some of the best flies that have come on the scene over the last 60 years. These are flies known and close to the heart of everybody that has chased Atlantic salmon and are patterns that fishermen should not be without when swinging for the ultimate fly rod quarry.

In a time where there are new trout patterns being pumped out on a weekly basis, The Classic Atlantic salmon flies are fished down and across out of tradition and of course faith in their effectiveness to entice and land salmon. It is easy to tie on a fly you have complete confidence in. "If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

Mucilin Fly & Line Dressing
Three decades of success has made this an all-time favorite floatant.
#1548 $7.95

Mucilin Fly Line Silicone
This is Europe's most popular fly line dressing for a very good reason. It works in all weather conditions.
#1549 $7.95

Gehrke's Gink
The world's most popular fly floatant. Dab it on your dry fly for a high-visibility drift.
#1545 $6.95

Gehrke's Xink
Experts use this surfactant to help that leader break through the surface film, making it less visible from below. Apply Xink with your thumb and forefinger to the leader for several feet behind your floating. It will ride just below the surface. Very effective.
#1546 $4.95

Loon Aquel
A silicon-based, temp stable floatant that won't melt when it's hot, harden when it's cold or leave a slick on the water.
#6308 $6.50

Loon Lochsa Gel Floatant
An all-around gel that works on CDC and treats feathers, hair, hackle, and yarn without hindering appearance while providing maximum floatation. It is silicon based, and won't melt in heat or harden when it's cold.
#6311 $9.50

Mucilin Hourglass Silicone
Fluid, liquid Mucilin is great for small dries, pupa, spinners and indicator yarns. Another fine stillwater floatant.
#1550 $8.95

Shimazaki Dry Shake Spray
Same formula as the Dry Shake Liquid, but instead of dipping each fly individually, the aerosol can makes it easy to spray down your entire dry fly box all at once!

- Environmentally sensitive
- One treatment lasts all day

#15624 $32.95

Loon Fly Dip
Dip your fly in, and watch as the liquid evaporates in seconds, leaving behind a super buoyant film on your fly. Use it to pretreat flies as well as reviving soggy flies.

#24381 Floatant Holder
24382 Dry Shake Holder
$9.95

Shimazaki Dry-Shake
Pop the fly (leader attached) into the vial and give a shake. Make a couple of casts, and all the scum is gone. Keeps very small flies riding on top for hours. Japan's most popular silica type floatant.
#108 $14.95

Dry Shake w/ Brush
Apply the gold standard in shake floatants with absolute precision and control using the new applicator brush. Perfect for applying shake to Chubby's and winged dries!
#21409 $24.95

Frog's Fanny
Brush (the brush is part of the cap) it on any nymph wing case to create a bubble on the fly that looks exactly like an emerging insect.
Excellent on CDC flies!
#9519 $7.95

Shimazaki Dry-Shake Liquid
The best of silicone and mucilin based floatants. Just dip your fly and watch as the liquid evaporates within seconds leaving a thin film. If your fly is wet, be sure to first dry your fly off with a dry shake or an amadou patch. Not recommended for use on CDC flies.
#20558 $24.95

Dry Magic
A superb, smooth, viscous, silicone based floatant that won't paste up feather fibers. Best option for CDC flies.
#9119 $16.95

Loon Blue Ribbon Floatant
Crystal floatants are the best to recondition drowned or small dries. No oils or paste to mat down small wings.
#6236 $8.50

Loon Easy Dry
Super-absorbent silica crystals floatant that's excellent for re-conditioning flies.
#1526 $8.50

Loon Top Ride
Put a fly in the jar and shake on this combined pure silica powder and silica crystal floatant. Super for hair wings and for reconditioning flies.
#4322 $9.50

SA's Gel Fly Floatant
A buoyant, creamy formula floatant that flows easily in cold weather, won't liquify in heat, and has no odor.
#152 $7.95

Umpqua Bug Flote
Our favorite floatant for hair wing and larger trout or bass flies. Similar to Gink and best suited for warm climates. The patented bottle hangs upside down off a D-ring or zipper.
#4538 $3.95

Keeping your flies floating high & dry

The last thing you want is to have a dry fly sink or not ride correctly before a feeding trout. That "refusal" is too often accepted as something other than a mistake on the part of the angler. Presentation, drift, fly selection, or all of the above. It may simply be that the fly is not dressed properly. It's time, then, to back up and look at the basics.

THE FIRST THING, in order of importance is to choose a fly that's constructed of good materials. Webby, soft hackle or porous body materials or heavy hooks will sink a fly faster than a German "U"-boat.

Then make sure your tippet is appropriate and not "wind knotted" or damaged.

Expert anglers then take the time to prepare their dry fly (particularly small, spring creek and stillwater models) with a primer. Like paint or glue, a good floatant needs to have a good base.

Coat the fly with a top quality silica descicant, like Shimazaki Dry Shake or Loon's Top Ride. Make a couple of exaggerated false casts and present the fly as gently as possible on the stream or surface of the spring creek or stillwater.

If it's a high riding attractor fly or bass bug, use a gel (Bug Flote, Gink, etc.) liberally, then pinch the fly hard and remove any extra, unnecessary floatant. That will compress the gel and force the lanolin base into the porous hair fibers.

We've got a wide selection of fly floatants. Experiment!

Custom Fly Selections

Our staff of experts have traveled to more than 43 international lodges and camps in the past year! Let our unrivaled experience put a big bend in your fly rod by letting us stock your fly box for your next angling adventure.

These are NOT generic, pre-packaged fly selections. Every specialty fly selection from The Fly Shop® is personally selected by one of our travel experts that have fished these destinations not just once but a bunch of times.

Mongolia Fly Selection
#22453 Taimen $279.95

The Fly Shop® has been one of the sport's largest angling travel agents for nearly 40 years. We've visited, guided, and outfitted tens of thousands of fly rodders for fly fishing trips all over the globe and no one in the fly business is as experienced. Who better to help choose the right selection of flies for your next trip?

Order one of our custom selections and get the flies you'll really need!

Our team of experienced travel professionals fill every order individually, picking flies we know will work. We'll make sure your fly box is loaded with exactly what you'll need and just what we'd choose for ourselves. Whether you are headed to Alaska for king salmon, Argentina for sea run browns, or Bolivia for dorado, you'll end up with a first-class selection of flies. Each one will be totally on-target for exactly the spot you're headed.

Show up prepared with nothing but the best
You'll arrive properly outfitted, and ready to catch fish with your fly boxes stuffed with deadly flies selected just for your destination by experienced anglers who know what will work. Because we've been there!

Or just order all the flies you want for your trip. When you return, just send back what you didn't use for a credit!

Travelling anglers can load up with all the flies they might think they need for a trip. When they return they're welcome to return any of those flies that are unused and in their original condition (within 60 days of that purchase) for a 100% in-store credit.

It's an open invitation to any travelling fly fisherman (whether you booked your trip with us or not) to expand your selection or load up on the proven patterns and insure your fly selection for a trip is complete!

Your selection will be made from fly fishing's largest inventory of flies
The Fly Shop® has the largest fly selection to choose from. Are chosen from proven patterns. They're not pre-packaged collections of cast-offs and leftovers.

The Fly Shop® sells nothing but the highest quality flies in the sport. They're tied by craftsmen to our own exacting standards using nothing but the finest materials, and hooks. Take it from us, you can't afford cheap flies.

JUSTIN MILLER is typical of our talented team here at The Fly Shop®. He came on board 18 years ago and has done just about every job under our roof. He has fished most of the lodges we represent, though admits to having a soft spot for steelhead, salmon, and permit!

Justin is our resident expert on Alaska, Kamchatka, Kola, Iceland, Australia, Canada, Brazil, Africa & Seychelles, and personally chooses the selections for those spots.

THE BEST OF MODERN

Fly Boxes

CONTEMPORARY FLY BOXES are nearly all constructed of space-age industrial plastics. Our own favorites have clear lids to allow the angler to see and sort through the selection without opening the box and risking dropping or losing any of the treasure. Too, we prefer models with gaskets that protect the flies from moisture and even total immersion.

Try to be practical and think ahead about the vest, jacket, fanny pack, or the wader pocket it'll call home, when selecting any fly box.

Stay away from boxes with any metal parts and take a few extra minutes to organize your flies before you enter the field. It'll save time later and make your fishing more productive.

In The Fly Shop's never-ending effort to bring innovation and economy to our catalog pages and introduce new products to fly fishermen, we've limited the number of boxes we display on these pages to our most popular models.

Visit our website www.theflyshop.com to see our entire selection of fly boxes

ADVICE TO TRAVELERS: Pack a "travel fly box" loaded with extra flies and re-load your field boxes daily with what you'll need or have used.

Think about taking advantage of our 60-day return policy by buying lots of extras. Then send back any unused flies for credit! See page 54

Choosing your next fly rod

Your fly rod may be the most important tackle selection you can make. It's more than just your connection to the line, leader, fly, and fish. It's your nexus to our sport, and symbolizes what we're all about.

THE FLY SHOP® HAS NEARLY half a million dollars of fly rods on the walls and the shelves of our store. We feature what most experts agree are the top brands in the sport along with our own brand. In fact, there are hundreds of models to choose from, with specialty rods for trout, salmon, steelhead, Atlantic Salmon, bonefish, permit, tarpon and more exotic species.

Our selection includes models designed for both the beginner, the expert, the angler with a budget, and the fly fisherman who won't settle for anything but the best.

The choices can sometimes be difficult. But we've not only got the rod you need but also a team of friendly experts that'll help you select exactly the rod to ensure your angling success.

Here are a few tips from our team of experts that might help:

Consider budget, then buy the best fly rod you can afford.

I'VE BEEN HELPING run the guide service, Kid's Camp, and our fly fishing classes here at The Fly Shop and have been teaching both beginners and experts to cast and fly fish for more than 20 years.

I learned my trade from one of the most famous instructors in the sport, and have spent thousands of hours polishing my own ability to deliver both flies and lessons.

All too often I find experienced anglers fighting with their gear without realizing how important the selection of their rod was in the development of their fly fishing, or how much easier and more pleasurable having a quality rod in their hands would add to those precious moments on the water.

My advice is to buy the best fly rod you can afford. If you need help with the choice ask an expert you can trust. Don't hesitate to reach out to me, or anyone else here at The Fly Shop®.

9´ rod for a 5-weight line is the most versatile trout rod made.

MOST GUIDES AND EXPERTS would agree that a 9´ rod for a 5-weight line is the most versatile trout rod made. It is swell for lakes, small rivers, and creeks, and will whip all but the real trophy rainbow or brown.

However, if you are gearing up for Alaska, Patagonia, or plan on fishing larger rivers here at home with bigger dry flies and streamers, you'll want something with more muscle. Probably a 6 or 7 weight rod – again in a 9´ length.

Conversely, if you're an ultralight fanatic, or focused on spring creeks and tiny streams you'll want to move in the other direction, and should look hard at a 3 or 4 weight rod that's 12 or 18 inches shorter.

Knowledgeable fly rodders will explain "you fight with the butt and cast with the tip." And what are referred to as fast action rods have a stiffer mid-section that helps muscle the line in high wind and able to increase line speed when distance is important, or when you're fishing with streamers or heavy flies.

Very fast-action rods require a well-developed sense of timing and are the wrong choice for beginners and most dry fly, and nymph fishing.

Slightly slower (medium/medium-fast) actions are "forgiving" and usually the best choice for all but the expert caster.

Type of water and technique determines the ideal rod

I'VE BEEN GUIDING the Lower Sacramento River for decades. It's a broad, swift tailwater with big rainbows and the occasional steelhead.

Our terminal tackle is often complicated, and when you're tossing a leader with multiple nymphs and a bit of weight all day, fast action rods translate into knotted, tangled leaders, and lost time re-rigging. The ideal stick has a strong butt section for power and a soft tip to help open up the loop and deliver the goods. A little extra length helps with the near-constant mending that's necessary to ensure a drag-free drift. 9´6˝, 6-weights are perfect.

When the fall colors change, I spend more time on the Trinity River. It's not as big, but Trinity steelhead require larger, more powerful rods and veteran anglers generally choose a solid 7-weight, switch rod, or light spey outfit.

The fish you're after will make a difference

IN OUR JUNGLE rivers the fish are much more powerful than in the north. Freshwater Dorado and our big Peacock Bass sometimes rip the fly rod from your hand when they strike. And would eat any trout.

You need a super-durable, macho fly rod to fight these predators. Strong enough for repetitive casting. Broken rods are routine, so bring an extra.

Eight or nine-weights are best, with a tip that has enough muscle to propel big streamers and poppers, and enough butt strength to put the brakes on these freight trains when they run for cover.

Saltwater requires unique components and fast action

GET TOO CLOSE to a permit, bonefish, or tarpon, and they're gone!

That's why every expert saltwater angler I know goes for the kind of fast action, high-modulus graphite fly rods that makes it easier to cast tight loops and generate the line speed necessary to air mail their hook and feathers to an (all-too-often) distant fish on the flats or help cut through the (all-too-often) wind.

I love fishing the Scott Sector and Winston's new Air 2 Max rods.

Don't reist innovation and change

I FISHED Tierra del Fuego's famous Rio Grande for monster sea trout with single-handed fly rods in the 90's. Then the Brits showed up with their spey rods and kicked my ass. Their long rods covered the water better, easily whipped the river's notorious winds, and caught exponentially more fish than me. So, I learned to Spey cast.

Pete Soverol (Wild Salmon Center) did the same thing to me, picking my pocket while fishing for trout behind me on Kamchatka's Zhupanova River with a switch rod that reached fish I couldn't touch. Nobody does that to me. Not for long. I've got more than one switch rod now.

The Fly Shop's FRESH H2O Freshwater Fly Rods

Quality, Economy & Performance

THE FLY SHOP'S FRESH H^{2}O FLY RODS were designed to allow both the veteran fly fisherman and the every day anglers the ability to deliver the fly accurately and without a lot of effort, while forgiving inadvertent mistakes that are common in the casting stroke.

These models are a baby step away from the ultra-fast trend and a slight shift toward a smooth, forgiving action that doesn't require a sophisticated, fine-tuned sense of timing to deliver flies and best suits most anglers.

Our Fresh H2O rods began to take shape when we became disillusioned with the direction that the top brands in the sport were going with their fly rod actions – faster and faster rods that tossed a tight loop for a mile in the hands of an expert, but were inappropriate for the less than expert fly fisherman.

At that point, we teamed up with one of the top rod manufacturers in the business and developed our own Fresh H2O fly rods by simply reverse-engineering and duplicating the most popular graphite, angler-friendly action that has ever been used on a trout stream.

We took our time, spending three years tinkering with and field-testing dozens of prototypes before we made our choices and allowed The Fly Shop® logo to be printed on the first, new, emerald-green blanks.

Since then we've added subtle improvements each season to the graphite and components without changing the essential action or our model names.

The latest iteration of Fresh H2O rods are a marriage of modern graphite materials and design that compensate for common errors and a less than expert casting stroke. It's a rod that loads with very little line beyond the tip, and still has the cojones to turn over a long leader or deliver distance.

When you put this rod to the test, you'll discover, as several thousand of our fly fishing customers have, that it's equal to other famous branded fly rods out there, and carries a price tag that's just a fraction of what is hanging on comparable quality fly rods.

We've spent 45+ years building our reputation, and 17 of them building fly rods.
Just like The Fly Shop®, these rods deliver everything we promise!

An extra tip at no extra charge!

We're fishermen here at The Fly Shop® and understand the logic of including an extra tip with every rod, at no extra charge. It's a built-in guarantee that'll keep you fishing on the stream instead of waiting for the UPS truck. We also include a practical, lined, segmented rod case with a zippered reel pouch instead of one more aluminum tube for your closet.

Our Fresh H2O fly rod and reel outfits

This is more than a terrific rod, and at that price it's a great deal, without the expensive, hidden premium many rod makers charge for their lifetime guarantee. All five of our models are identically priced at $199.

Our warranty is just another good deal.

Our warranty

All of our H^{2}O Series rods are fully warranteed by The Fly Shop®. In fact, we're very proud of our battle-tested, high performance rods. After 17 years in the hands of all skill levels of fly fishermens there's been an almost insignificant failure rate. But rods are going to be broken, and we don't care how they break.

We'll replace any section, on any of our rods for the original purchaser, charging no more than $45 plus $11.95 for shipping. Just send us what's left of the entire rod along with your return address and a check or credit card number. We'll do our part and try to get the rod started on its way back to you the very next day.

The best 4-piece rod for the buck in fly fishing

There isn't a better performing fly rod anywhere else in the world of fly fishing at this price!

THE ACTION OF EACH FRESH H^2O fly rod model is unique. Our smooth trout rods have actions that will protect light tippet on the strike and during the battle and don't behave like steelhead rods, while our steelhead rods have all the power you'll need to pack the mail and an action that will deliver flies as far as necessary.

The Hat Creek & Fall River models are both nine-foot, 4 and 5 weight rods that are just right for most freshwater rivers, streams and stillwater situations

They have enough muscle to cover broad, western spring creeks and employ the very "forgiving" actions that naturally open up the loop, help turn over long leaders, and have exactly the kind of action that will deliver dry flies and smaller nymphs accurately in all but the worst of winds.

Our Sacramento River rod is a 6 weight, and the best all 'round nymph and dry fly rod in the line up. This model is powerful enough for streamers, yet delicate enough for most dry fly fishing.

The Trinity & Mad River models are virtual wrist rockets with powerful actions and enough muscle to make tossing a tight loop to the horizon a lot easier. Both rods have fighting butts.

Signature Series H^2O Fly Rods

Signature H2O rods for the anglers who have dialed in their casting stroke

THESE HANDSOME RODS employ a more expensive, higher modulus graphite than our Fresh H^2O models (featured on pages 60-61). Those differences translate into a fly rod with a moderately faster action that's better matched for experienced anglers who have a more refined, practiced, casting skills.

These high performance rods employ what was once called "reserve power" – a resilience that'll drive the line a little farther, help toss the line into the teeth of a stiff wind, or handle a larger dry fly or big streamer when extra power is applied.

Signature H^2O Fly Rod features

- Dynamic, powerful, progressive action
- Superb components, tailored to each model
- Beautifully finished Buckeye reel seats
- An extra tip comes with every rod
- Complete with The Fly Shop's segmented rod/reel case

Signature H^2O Fly Rod Warranty

Signature H2O rods are warranteed by The Fly Shop®. We'll replace or repair any H2O rod for the original purchaser, charging no more than $45 plus $11.95 shipping. It's a great deal without an expensive, hidden premium for a lifetime guarantee.

All four of our Signature H^2O fly rod models sport components that are a step up from our Fresh H^2O fly rods. All of the Signature rods feature handsome Buckeye hardwood reel inserts and more expensive components than you'll find on comparably-priced rods.

They also feature a dark, non-glare finish that won't spook fish.

Nobody knows more about indicator fishing than our team of Sacramento and Trinity River experts. We're the outfit that refined indicator fishing for trout and steelhead in NorCal and these two new models of indicator rods are the perfect answer to pursuing the endless, perfect drift – and the tug! Then we built the perfect rods for it.

Signature Series H^2O Indicator Rods

THE FLY SHOP'S indicator rods employ features that help make this style of fishing easier, much more fun, and a lot more productive.

These rods are designed with a high modulus graphite to add the strength so they won't buckle under the weight of a multi-fly rig. They have a strong tip, slightly softer center section, and powerful butt. All of this forces the rod to flex lower down the blank and automatically opens the loop – making indicator terminal tackle easy to toss without messing up or tangling.

We expanded our indicator rod line up with 5 and 7 weights!

Signature H2O Indicator Fly Rod features:

- Designed, tested and tailored specifically for indicator fishing
- Longer than normal for better mending and line control
- Stack mends effortlessly at both short and long range
- Non-glare, ultra-functional, matte finish
- Fighting butt helps balance the rod perfectly
- An extra tip comes with every one of our H2O fly rods

Scott Rods are made in Montrose, Colorado

Kiyoshi Nakagawa photo

High performance freshwater fly rods

Scott's new star-studded lineup includes the best freshwater fly rod they've ever made

Scott's Centric series fly rods are the most efficient rods they have ever created. Flat, stable, high line speed loops that can be easily generated at any distance with minimal effort from the caster. And they're still fun to cast!

What Scott did to build the Centric was first develop revolutionary new rolling equpment (the machines that turn flat sheets of graphite into rod blanks) to allow them to control graphite fiber placement and manipulate the density of material. Then Scott incorporated a new resin to precisely bond the increased density of the fibers, and simultaneously created a stronger, lighter, and more stable rod.

The end result is the creation of four weights that cast like they should – light and delicate at close range, but with enough power buried in the rod to turn over long leaders and flies at exceptional distances. Perfect spring creek rods.

Using the same logic and technology, they packed progressively more power into the Centric five, six, and seven weight freshwater models at exactly the points in each of these fantastic freshwater rod models where it's necessary.

Scott's G Series model dates back to 1976, the year Scott changed the market with the first-ever 9 foot 4 weight fly rod. The newest G Series rods look and act a bit like the original models. Sensitive, but with an exponential elevation of performance and performance is what it's all about.

At the end of the day, the skilled craftsmen in Montrose have delivered a smooth-casting rod that may be the best trout fishing tool ever made.

Centric rods feature more than technology and are one of the top rods ever to grace a rod rack! The cork is absolutely excellent, and the components include slick titanium SiC stripping guides, custom burl box elder reel seat inserts and Scott's patented Universal snake guides.

High performance saltwater fly rods

Scott has developed an award-winning new generation of big game and saltwater fly rods!

SIGNIFICANT ADVANCES in fly fishing technology, whether it's rods, reels, waders, fly lines, or clothing don't happen very often. The advent of graphite was, of course, a great leap forward for the sport. Every move forward from that point – higher and higher modulus, boron fibers, nano resins, and other evolutions were baby steps in comparison.

At this point it's the creative application of already existing knowledge that usually makes headlines in fly fishing.

So it was with Scott's Carbon Web design and the creation of their Sector Fly Rods. It was the culmination of a series of small steps, new materials, tapers, and engineering that's given saltwater anglers a reason to be excited!

Scott's Carbon Web technology improves torsional stability and rod durability by encasing unidirectional fibers in a web of ultra-light multi-directional carbon fiber. These fibers help counteract torsional forces giving you better tracking and power for long-line pickups and redirecting casts. They also help to reduce micro fractures from stress or impact.

Expressed in English: These blanks are stonger, yet lighter, have more power, are more durable, and track better.

With Carbon Web combined with ReAct, Scott has created a new kind of rod allowing the angler to hold more line in the air, lift more line off the water with less effort, and the ability to redirect a cast more easily when a fish is on the move.

Scott Sector Saltwater Fly Rods

Scott's goal with the Sector was to create the best saltwater & big game fly rod that's ever been made. They began by bundling all of their technology into one model rod, then added the most cutting edge fly rod components imaginable.

Imagine a rod that casts tight, high line speed loops with less effort and can turn over a leader straight into the wind; a rod that delivers the fly on target with just one false cast, and can pick it back up and redirect if the fish changes course; a rod that is intuitive so you can focus on the fish instead of your cast; a rod that feels light and alive in your hand and has the touch and feel needed to make short quick shots.

We've used these rods this year in Mexico for bonefish, permit, tarpon and snook. We took them to Louisiana for redfish and to Alaska for silvers. They went with us to Bolivia for Dorado and to Brazil for tackle-busting, monster peacock. The Sector rods we used performed far better than we expected and, after all the hype, we expected a lot. And until Scott (or someone else) comes out with something better, it's going to be the first fly rod we pack for the saltwater, the jungle, and any other big game fishing.

Scott Wave Saltwater Fly Rods

For the last 46 years the Scott Fly Rod Company has been a leader in rod design and innovation. Each fly rod is handcrafted in Montrose, Colorado by rod builders that care. They are fly rods built with a purpose, utilizing only the finest components and perform under the most severe conditions. These are purposely built fly fishing tools built for anglers that simply need the best and won't compromise for anything less. The Fly Shop® has been working with Scott for 45 years, because they started one year before us. We have found their commitment to producing the best fly rods available unfaltering, and we couldn't be more excited to carry Scott's complete lineup of fly rods.

When we first got our hands on a Wave, we were immediately impressed by how light in hand the rod felt. This 8 weight felt like a 6 weight! Casting the Wave was enjoyable and straightforward as it easily generated high line speeds in controlled tight loops, an essential attribute needed to cut through wind and deliver flies on target. The butt section seemed to have plenty of pulling power, a great feature when trying to tame powerful fish in fresh and saltwater.

We feel the Wave will be equally at home fishing the flats, casting fast sinking lines for stripers, or chasing carp and bass at your local pond or lake. Wave rods deliver high performance across a wide variety of fishing situations.

- ▲ X-Core - Enhanced feel, incredible stability and unequaled performance. Combines the industry's leading composite technologies with cutting edge design
- ▲ ARC - Advanced Reinforced Carbon reduces torque and increases strength. Adds hoop strength to the blanks without adding weight, and counteracts torque that can reduce casting accuracy and line control.
- ▲ Multi-Modulus Design - Fibers with different modulus designed into specific sections of the rod fine tunes flex and recovery
- ▲ Natural Finish - A natural finish blank is built to exacting tolerances. Scott's advanced resin systems permeate the blank, leaving a durable finish that will stand up to years of abuse. It's all about making your rod lighter, more durable, and better performing.

R.L. Winston Rod Co.

Every Winston fly rod is individually hand-crafted in Twin Bridges, Montana, and is built for anglers by people who care.

Winston Pure Freshwater Fly Rods

THESE MODERN trout rods from Winston apply the newest, contemporary rod technology with a "soul" that continues Winston's tradition of bringing rods to our sport that have a "feel" and are a PURE pleasure to cast.

It's an action built to toss the open loop perfect for dry fly or light nymph fishing. Add a slim profile, fine cigar-style grip, and guide configurations that make for a better "connection" to the rod and it's the formula for a great trout fishing rod.

At the same time, these moderate action rods incorporate contemporary technology, the newest in carbon fibers, graphite, and nano resins.

This rod was honored as "The Best New Freshwater Rod" at the 2018 IFTD Show, and little has changed since then. Every single Pure model is still hand-crafted in Twin Bridges, Montana.

The rods feature beautiful figured maple reel inserts, surrounded by nickel silver hardware and they all wear the perfect wraps and lustrous finish you'd expect from any fine Winston rod.

Winston Tom Morgan Favorite Freshwater Fly Rod

TOM MORGAN WAS the owner and rod designer at Winston from 1973 to 1991 and his legacy at Winston and for the entire fly rod industry cannot be overstated. Winston continues to believe in Tom's principle that "a great fly rod is always a great fly rod", so they found it only fitting to reintroduce the Tom Morgan Favorite.

First offered in 1989 as a limited edition 60th Anniversary model, the Tom Morgan Favorite Rod has proved to be so popular it has remained a Winston customer favorite for the last 30+ years.

Tom grew up fishing the spring creeks of Montana for wary brown trout where the slightest mistake spooks the fish. He designed the "Tom Morgan Favorite" as a specialized 2-piece, extra light, 8′ 4-weight, made from moderate modulus graphite for those close to mid-range distances where delicacy, finesse, and accuracy are essential.

- ▲ All graphite with classic WT spigot ferrule design
- ▲ Incredibly smooth with wonderful touch and feel
- ▲ Extra light 4-weight, perfect for spring creek fishing

Winston Air 2 Max Saltwater Fly Rods

MAX Accuracy. MAX Power. MAX Line Speed. MAX Performance.

UTILIZING THE NEWEST innovative material found in the award-winning AIR 2 (one of our favorite sticks from Winston) in conjunction with Winston's fastest and most powerful tapers to date, the new AIR 2 Max series optimizes performance in saltwater, warmwater, and large freshwater fishing applications across the globe. The Fly Shop staff has fished this rod extensively in the Bahamas, Mexico, Louisiana, and Alaska, and we couldn't be happier with the rod for its accuracy, lifting strength, and line speed – it hits all those marks and more. It's as adept for a short shot or blowing line on a "Hail Mary" cast. We found the AIR 2 Max models are powerful yet easy to cast and light in the hand. Winston's proprietary AIR 2 and Boron materials create unprecedented feel, power, tracking, recovery, and lightweight performance. This is a fast-action rod suitable for any saltwater or heavy freshwater trip in the world.

Sage R8 Core Series Fly Rods

THE R8 CORE is versatile, the ideal choice for anglers looking for a can do fly rod that will cover multiple applications in salt and/or freshwater. Sage's new revolutionary material technology is advanced, incorporating cast-forgiving tapers, and purer high density graphite fibers, which offers lightness, faster casting stroke recovery and responsiveness while at the same time offering more durability, exceptional casting feedback and an easy-in-hand feel. We love the way this rod casts, but how it performs on the water is what really impresses us. This is a terrific multi-task fly rod for those looking to up their game.

For most of us, an idyllic day on the water is not when we're thinking more, but when we're thinking less. Finding that state of fishing in the moment, where instinct and experience bring us to an almost zen-like awareness of each subtle motion and movement – that's what R8 CORE is all about.

- Effortless energy transfer and more connected feel
- Maximized versatility and control
- Fuji ceramic stripper guides with hard chromed snake guides and tip-top
- Silver Pine blank color with slate primary thread wraps with graduated White and Grey trim
- Black rod bag with new cord lock for quicker, easier, and cleaner storage

Sage Payload Series Fly Rods

Built by Sage specifically for bass

THE PAYLOAD by Sage uses konnetic technology – high modulus graphite fibers laid to exacting tolerances, creating a slimmer blank profile, increased strength and efficient energy transfer from the butt to the tip. Those are the exact qualities you want in a bass fishing fly rod – fast action, laser casts for throwing big bugs, accuracy for hitting tight pockets, and enough umph to drive the hook home and rodeo a bucket mouth out of a stump garden. These rods are purposely built short (8′9″) and track like a bloodhound cast after cast, reducing lateral instability and arm fatigue. We love fishing these rods on our local bass ponds or in Canada fishing small mouths with poppers.

- Taper is tailored to cast large, wind resistant flies.
- A stronger tip and center section to help lift heavy line and flies off the water.
- More leverage for fighting larger fish
- Tangle free Fuji ceramic stripper guides
- Premium grade half-wells cork handles with fighting butt.
- Tannin blank color

Sage Salt R8 Saltwater Fly Rods

More Fight, More Touch!

NO, THIS IS not Audi's 200 mph supercar, the R8, but Sage's super advanced and fast action SALT R8 fly rod. Just like the car this stick is all about pure brute-strength, power and speed. The talented engineers at Sage have added 25% more strength while at the same time keeping the rod super light and nimble. They increased the pulling power to tame the largest beats that swim the sea without adding more material, fillers or reinforcement. That translated into a rod that reduces landing time, and stress on the fish and angler.

Despite its prowess as a fish-fighting-heavyweight, the SALT R8, especially in the big guns (10 - 15 weights), retains a refined touch, is accurate for short or long shots and delivers precise presentations. Sage rod designers have perfected rod profile, fiber alignment, strength, and touch while at the same time increasing the casting sweet spot. The team here at The Fly Shop have put these rods through their paces over the last 14 months and couldn't be happier with the rod's casting and fish fighting ability. We can't wait to put it to the ultimate test on the Providence Atoll, Seychelles this spring on Geets!

- ▲ Heavy-duty reel seat for enhanced contact and confidence, heavy-duty reel seat and oversized locking rings keep reel tight to the rod for greater contact.
- ▲ Saltwater specific guide set - Fuji K-guides resist corrosion, while angled shape prevents snags and tangling in the chaos of the fight. Oversized chrome snake guides and tip-top allow larger saltwater knots to pass with ease
- ▲ Enhanced durability and toughness withstands more rugged situations and demands of remote travel
- ▲ 25% greater strength per rod allows for greater pulling power equals more fight for faster landing and less stress on delicate ecosystems

Sage Igniter Series Fly Rods

Ultra-powerful, Ultra-smooth, and Ultra-light

THE MOST DEMANDING conditions require a different kind of tool. Stong head wind? Fish at distance? Bulky rigs? Heavy sink-tips? Built with Sage's Konnetic HD technology the Igniter is tuned to handle the most technical of conditions. Equipped with a high line speed taper to carry large amounts of line at distance and wind cutting performance the Igniter will get the job done when others won't. More sensitive than its predecessor, this rod loads easier at short distances and is more versatile for a larger variety of applications. The lighter line weights are great for trout and the heavier are optimal for saltwater or big game species.

THE FLY SHOP'S LINE-UP OF EURO NYMPHING RODS & ACCESSORIES

Winston Super 10 Specialty Euro Nymph fly rods

These long, mini-rods were created with an action to meet the demands of those anglers interested in the European style of nymphing, and Winston's three 10-footers (3, 4 and 5 wt.) are the perfect tool for modern high sticking methods.

Each of the Super 10 rods has a finely tuned, progressive medium action with a super-sensitive tip thats perfect for both Euro and indicator nymphing.

Super 10 rods feature specialized guides for tossing monofilament, a down-locking reel seat to redistribute weight, and a 2″ cork grip extension to reduce the arm fatigue common to Euro nymphing.

Scott

High performance swing fly rods

Scott has developed a swing rod for all occasions!

WHEN YOU SET OUT TO CHASE migrating fish, you better be prepared for a whole lot of heartache with an occasional pulse of adrenaline. Any given day Mother Nature will throw nasty weather at you. Your buddies told you where to go, but the fish moved 20 miles upriver overnight. When you choose to play this game there is no guarantee that the fish will even be there. So, your gear better show up.

The Swing series from Scott does just that. From Scandi lines to long bellies to heavy tips on the end of a Skagit head, these rods perform. They'll kick over a skater 100 feet out on a 20 foot leader and rip a 5 inch intruder out of the anchor and send it towards your target.

Spey casting produces a fair amount of torque on the rod and Scott's X-Core and Arc2 technologies really shine here and provide excellent directional stability. They feature progressive loading actions and fast recovery speeds. With components like titanium stripping guides and a completely redesigned aluminum reel seat that can accommodate both the new high tech reels and our beloved antiques, they feel incredibly light in the hand.

The 2 single hand rods in the series are a blast to fish. Equally comfortable with long belly lines and a bomber skating on the surface as they are with the shorter compact Skagit lines like the AirFlo Scout. These rods really bring us back to the glory days before the two-handers took over. If it's been a while since you went out and had a single-hand swing day, give these beauties a wiggle.

Scott Swing Fly Rods

Handcrafted in Colorado

To catch steelhead and salmon, you need to swim the fly at the right angle, the right depth, and the right speed. The right rod can help solve that puzzle.

Swing rods feature progressive loading actions, fast recovery speed, directional stability, and a light in hand feel, from combining finely tuned new tapers with our multi-directional, multi-modulus layups, ARC2 reinforcement, Carbon Link resin system, and the very finest components.

New fully milled aluminum reel seat with aggressive threads for operating with cold hands, type 3 hard coat, and specially milled reel foot pockets that securely hold current performance reels and most vintage reel feet.

You can fish floating line, sinking line, dry flies, wet flies, traditional swing, riffle hitch, nymph and indicator. Long belly, Skagit, Scandi. The variations are endless.

Winston AIR TH

THE WINSTON AIR TH RODS redefine two-hand casting performance. SuperSilica resin system and Boron technology, makes these rods unbelievably light, perfectly balanced, powerful, responsive, and fun to fish.

Deep loading action with fast recovery rates, are ideal for any steelhead and salmon fishing application. Adaptive and specified grain windows that are ideal for specific two-hand applications. In addition to the dialed grain windows, AIR TH models utilize smaller diameter grips to give anglers more feel and intuition during the cast.

AIR TH rods adjust to any casting style and preference by utilizing several standardized rod lengths across multiple grain windows. In the same way the 9′ rod length became the industry standard for a versatile single hand rod, Winston dialed in their famous 13′3″ lengths in 6, 7, and 8 weight grain windows to specify the perfect rod length across different applications.

Whether anglers prefer sustained anchor, touch and go, traditional, or mid belly techniques, Winston AIR TH rods support infinite casting styles, and offer unrivaled feel and performance across any two-hand casting application.

Choosing your next fly reel

Fly reels are a critical component of your fly fishing outfit. They can be utilitarian, a get-the job-done-tool, or a spectacular expression of your love of the sport or species you chase all tricked out with sick graphics!

REGARDLESS OF HOW MUCH you want to spend, or how crazy you want to go with graphics or intricate machining, careful consideration must be given to your fishing application before investing in a quality fly reel.

Be it an old school click and pawl Hardy for your double handed rod; beefy Abel SDS for migratory tarpon at ESB Lodge; the fortress-made Hardy Fortuna Regent that will stop the biggest, baddest GT in the Seychelles or a Ross Evolution LTX for your 4-weight spring creek rig, The Fly Shop® has you covered.

Our fly reel selections are based on merit. We spend 1,000's of hours each year fishing and testing these reels, putting them through their paces, weeding out the good from the bad, so you don't have to. Put that experience to work for you.

Give us a call, let us know what you want and need in a fly reel, and we will help you make a savvy decision and get it in your hands in a matter of days.

What to consider when buying a freshwater reel?

IT'S IMPORTANT to know exactly what your needs are for your future angling in order to make sure you have the right reel.

The first question is, am I going to need a strong drag or will a simple click and pawl get the job done? Most of your trout fishing that you will do on small streams you will likely play the fish with nothing but finger tension, making the reel not much more important than a line storage device…but it still has to be pretty!

Balance and performance are the major factors to take into consideration. The reel that you have on your 5-weight trout setup has no business on your 8-weight baby tarpon outfit. The line won't fit, it will not have the proper backing capacity, and it will physically not balance the rod while fishing. Getting the right tool for the job is extremely important!

VAYA 5/6
SIMMS

Our advice is to look at exactly where you will be fishing and then choose your reel based on that. This could mean having several reels to cover all of your freshwater, saltwater, jungle and swing fishing. It is kind of like with golf clubs, you can't play every hole with just one club. And you can't fish every piece of water with just one rod and reel.

What to consider when buying a saltwater reel?

EVERY SALTWATER ANGLER would agree that a saltwater reel must have a large capacity spool as well as a drag system that is sealed and can stop a Prius.

There is no more destructive environment for fly fishing tackle, especially metal, than the saltwater. So having an anodized, sealed drag reel is an absolute must.

Weight is the very next thing that we look for when selecting a quality saltwater reel. Many times you are casting at moving fish throughout the angling day and having a lighter reel will reduce weight and fatigue.

Experienced saltwater anglers won't settle for anything but the very best. The Fly Shop® has you covered with a range of prices and great options.

Some destinations require the absolute strongest reels on the market, such as the Seychelles in the Indian Ocean. Giant Trevally have broken most of the saltwater reels on the market and many of the guides know immediately when you show up what the outcome will be. So these trips require the highest quality and performance available.

On the other hand, bonefish, snook, and permit require less and you can get away with a modestly priced saltwater or freshwater reel with a sealed drag.

We've put together a great selection of saltwater reels to choose from which you can find on pages 78 and 79.

We haven't forgotten about Spey reels

THIS SELECTION CAN LEAD TO arguments among the true Spey anglers around the world.

Many anglers who chase anadromous fish still love the old favorite noise makers while others prefer a standard reel with an amazing drag. We will leave that decision and argument to you and your friends. Most of the diehard swingers will prefer the sound of a click and pawl. While a good drag with plenty of stopping power may help you land the fish of a lifetime, most of us know that swinging flies is not a numbers game. When the big one grabs and rips line off the reel you'll want a loud clicker. That way, everyone on the river will know you are hooked into your elusive target.

One thing you will need for sure is capacity. Spey lines are much thicker than traditional lines and you will need plenty of room to store them on your reel. For your 6-weight Spey rod, think 9-weight single hand reel. You can find our excellent Spey reel selection on Page 80.

The Fly Shop's Signature Fly Reels

Our L^{2}A Fly Reels are in a class by themselves!

They've got a super-smooth, ultra-reliable drag that's sensitive enough to protect fine tippet, yet strong enough to stop any fish in freshwater right in its tracks. There isn't a better fly reel made or sold anywhere else at a better price.

The L^{2}A reel is made for fish that want to bust you off. That's when the friction-free spin of our L^{2}A spool and precision-machined L^{2}A frame and perfectly matched spool is going to make a difference. L^{2}A reels are made for actual situations when anglers don't have time to think about the reel.

The Fly Shop's L2A reels uses a durable, sensitive, and nearly infallible drag and spindle design system with 34 drag settings that will handle any imaginable freshwater fishing situation.

Its a drag that is now common to dozens of other reels in the industry, and one that has proven to perform flawlessly in the most demanding freshwater situations

- ▲ Fully machined from T-6061 aircraft aluminum
- ▲ Quick change, inexpensive spools
- ▲ Super-sensitive drag
- ▲ Easily adapted to left or right hand wind retrieve
- ▲ Completely anodized for strength and durability

The Fly Shop's L^{2}A reels are tailored for those times when the fish you're after strikes, you have set the hook, and the fun starts.

Suddenly, terms like 'low start up inertia' mean your tippet is still intact and the fish you've been searching for is still there.

You might still have to worry about possible wind knots and think about the strength of that tippet and some other stuff.

But with an L^{2}A reel on your rod, it's performance will be the least of your concerns.

The L^{2}A reel is the most popular fly reel we've ever had here at The Fly Shop® and features a price tag that has made it one of the top values in fly fishing tackle.

Model	Lines	Code	Reel	Code	Spool
L^{2}A 4/5	WF4 or 5	#6413	$149	#6578	$75
L^{2}A 5/6	WF5 or 6	6414	159	6579	80
L^{2}A 7/8	WF7 or 8	6415	169	6580	85

The best fly reels for the buck are even better values when purchased as a combo with one of The Fly Shop® Signature Fly Rods.

The Fly Shop's
M^{2}A Fly Reel

M2A fly reel delivers features never before offered in a fly reel anywhere near our price.

The M^{2}A fly reel is the ideal choice for the angler on a budget. It's a well-designed reel that will last a lifetime. The M^{2}A places a premium on value, quality, and craftsmanship. It is simply the finest fly reel made at anywhere near this price!

The M^{2}A reel redefines what fly fishermen might expect in an inexpensive fly reel.
This reel has features found only on pricier reels and many of the performance innovations typically reserved for models that cost a lot more.

- ▲ Fully machined T-6061 aircraft aluminum
- ▲ Every part is anodized or stainless steel
- ▲ Easily converted to left or right hand wind
- ▲ Large spool capacity for extra backing
- ▲ Sensitive, center disc drag

Galvan Torque Fly Reels

The Fly Shop's most popular Galvan reel is made in the California foothills, east of Sacramento, by a family of American machinists. The Torque is beautiful, functional, exceptionally light, with an ultra-reliable drag system.

The Torque fly reels are time-tested favorites among our expert regional anglers. They're fully machined, polished, and then anodized in a choice of five super-attractive colors to match most rods. The large arbor feature serves to reduce the rpms when a fish is running and helps to retrieve line quickly. The large diameter spool will minimize line memory, and the extensive porting reduces weight, optimizes the strength/weight ratio of the aluminum frame, and helps dry your line.

- ▲ Available in black, blue, green, orange or clear finish
- ▲ Machined 6061 bar-stock anodized aircraft aluminum
- ▲ Rapid line retrieve large arbor spools
- ▲ Broad range of detent drag settings
- ▲ Ultra-smooth and consistent disc drag
- ▲ Easily converted from left to right hand wind
- ▲ Fully saltwater-safe, stainless steel components
- ▲ Extensively ported, and super-light
- ▲ Like all Galvan reels, they're 100% made in America

Galvan Rush LT Reel

There are sexier reels. There are lighter reels. But there aren't any reels that offer the sheer dependability and functionality that these fully machined drag reels have at this price. Rush LT reels can handle anything thrown at them.

They were the predecessor to Galvan's higher end Torque reel, feature the same composite disc drag, and are essentially the same high quality but with simpler, slightly heavier porting pattern. In fact, the Galvan Rush LT spools fit perfectly on the Torque frame – and Torque spools will marry the Rush frame.

The extensive additional porting, machining, and polishing on the Torque models reduce weight and add ventilation, but also considerable expense.

- ▲ Incredibly durable and a terrific, feature laden, fly reel value!
- ▲ Available in black, blue, green, orange or clear anodized finishes
- ▲ Employs the ultra-reliable Torque drag system
- ▲ Maximum porting to reduce overall weight ▲ Minimal start up inertia
- ▲ Saltwater-safe Type II anodization and stainless steel components
- ▲ Easily converted from left to right hand wind retrieve
- ▲ Machined 6061 bar-stock anodized aircraft aluminum
- ▲ Interchangeable with Torque frame and spools
- ▲ Like all Galvan reels, they're 100% made in America

Galvan Brookie

The Brookie is beautiful, functional, and a technological work of art. The friction-free spool and revolutionary frame eliminates all the unnecessary weight and strikes a perfect balance between simplicity and durability.

At the same time, the Brookie has a gorgeous finish, an uncomplicated ultra-reliable drag that'll perform flawlessly with any lightweight fly rod.

The Brookie does more than just look good, and is our first choice as a companion to any ultra-light fly rod.

- ▲ Black, blue, green, orange or clear finish
- ▲ Easily converted to left/right retrieve
- ▲ Foolproof drag system
- ▲ Virtually no start up inertia resistance
- ▲ Lightweight, super strong frame
- ▲ Machined from 6061 aluminum

Galvan G.E.N. Euro

Specifically designed to balance longer Euro style rods, the G.E.N. (Galvan Euro Nymph) reel uses the same proven chassis and drag system as Galvan's Torque series of reels but with a full "cage" between the reel and spool, preventing fine diameter ESN (Euro Style Nymphing) lines from slipping between the two.

The new G.E.N. reel features an increased spool arbor diameter to maximize line retrieval and minimizing line coiling in colder water.

- ▲ Pewter finish
- ▲ Reversible from left to right hand retrieve
- ▲ LG handle for maximum torque
- ▲ Push button quick release spool
- ▲ 6061-Grade T6 aluminum
- ▲ Type II saltwater safe anodize
- ▲ Minimal start up inertia

Lamson ultra-light, innovative, high performance fresh and saltwater fly reels

Everything Lamson is 100% designed and built by a creative team of fly fishing machinists, craftsmen, and visionaries in Boise Idaho. These guys have been pushing the envelope surrounding fly reel architecture and changing how people think about fly reels for 20 years.

Lamson Guru S Fly Reels

The Guru S has an excellent price tag for a fully machined fresh and saltwater safe reel. It is extremely lightweight, ultra-reliable and features their proprietary conical drag.

This model was updated in 2019 with a more fully ported spool and cutaway frame to reduce weight and improve line drying. A narrow profile, large arbor spool speeds line retrieval and incorporates a unique counterbalance.

The Guru S is completely Type II saltwater anodized and all parts are stainless steel, making the reel one of the lightest available reels for both fresh and salt.

Excellent CNC machined reels at a great price.

Echo is a small, personable company of fly-fisher folk residing in Vancouver, Washington

They are the vision of Tim Rajeff – the culmination of his huge personality and an outlet of both creativity and service to the industry. When in the office, Tim spends all his time designing new lines and rods or helping with customer service.

Echo Bravo LT Fly Reel

Starting with Echo's proven drag design, they cut, shaved, and overhauled the core of the reel until they could shoehorn a four-layer carbon fiber drag system in the hub of the ECHO BRAVO LITE reels. The design includes O-rings to keep water and dirt from entering the guts of the reel. The design allows a person to not only change the retrieve from left to right without tools, but also completely disassemble the drag and service it without spilling a drop of their beer.

Bravo LT Fly Reel

Model	Diameter	Inner Width	Weight	Reel
LT 4/5	0.48″	0.89″	4.85 oz	$119.99

- ▲ Incoming/outgoing audible click
- ▲ Easily convertible from left to right hand retrieve
- ▲ Sealed to protect against damaging elements

Ross has been making reels in America since 1973

Ross started in a little California town just north of Redding. Their motto "made on the water" became accentuated with the company's move to Colorado and their commitment to design and innovation has resulted in some of the best fly reels on the market today!

Ross Evolution LTX Reels

Ross has reinvented one of the best trout reels made, and the Evolution LTX is now lighter, faster and offers a sealed drag 4 times stronger than its predecessor. Everything has been thought of with this reel design from an arbor knot channel that enables smooth backing loading hiding arbor knots, a Micarta handle made from a canvas phenolic rod adding durability and increased grip when wet.

The LTX is a top of the line freshwater reel, and a solid choice for light saltwater applications. It is not only a great trout reel but has the power to take on redfish, bonefish, or snook, and is built to last for many enjoyable seasons to come.

LTX 5/6	5/6	WF6+95	22785	475
LTX 7/8	7/8	WF8+150	22786	475

- ▲ The drag system is based on the stacked-disc principle found on the popular, time-tested, field-proven Evolution Reel
- ▲ The bright black finish is hard anodized and polished for the perfect balance of durability, color, and elegance
- ▲ The frame and spool are machined from 6061-16 aluminum, specifically engineered for Ross Reels
- ▲ The spool utilizes a unique, impregnated, bronze bushing

Ross Animas Reels

The time-proven features that made the Animas a favorite of professionals were incorporated into this advanced version in 2019, along with new machining features to bring it into the modern era of Ross.

The Animas is engineered incredibly strong and is visually stunning. Its frame is accented by a machined silhouette of the Colorado mountains and its uniquely ported design and structural profile are eye-catching, practical, and combine to create a bundle of features ready for any fresh or saltwater excursion.

Abel Vaya

Spanish for 'Go!', as in go outside, go explore, go fishing!

Crafted by avid Colorado anglers, the VAYA series debuts an all-new technical look and feel paired with outstanding performance. The partially-ported VAYA frame offers the unique combination of minimized weight, incredible rigidity, and just enough surface area to highlight Abel's hand-anodized finishes. The frame interior also features varying sets of CNC-milled fly patterns, relevant to each size of reel.

The large-arbor spool features a precision-balanced, dual-pawl drag engagement design that eliminates the need for a counterweight. The spool's mechanical incoming click compliments the audible, smooth feel of the outgoing drag. The carbon/stainless multi-disk drag system produces substantial resistance, while providing a wide range of adjustability for delicate tippet.

- Partially-ported frame for the perfect balance of weight, sound, and visual appeal
- Different sets of milled fly pattern silhouettes on interior of each frame relevant to the size of the reel
- 5-disc alternating carbon/stainless steel drag stack
- Large arbor for faster retrieve and reduced line memory
- Quick-change spool design with proven O-ring release
- User convertible retrieval system
- Every Abel is made in America

Abel Sealed Drag Reels a new standard in fresh and saltwater reels

In the 1980's Steve Abel set a new benchmark in saltwater reels when he introduced the Abel Big Game Series. It was the most coveted saltwater reel of the era and was found on the rod in the hands of nearly every serious tarpon and big game fly fisherman. At least the ones who could afford them.

The newest iteration of quality and performance from Abel is their totally re-engineered Sealed Drag Series, which features a unique, completely sealed, multi-disc braking system that's powerful, reliable, smooth, and capable of taking on both fresh and saltwater gamefish. SDS (saltwater) versions have all the power needed to halt a hard-fighting tarpon in it's tracks.

The lightweight SDF (freshwater) models have virtually zero startup inertia, an enormous amount of drag, and three times the adjustment range of its predecessors. They're just perfect for fighting trophy trout on light tippet.

Abel Sealed Drag Reels are available in a variety of colors and graphic designs. Some resemble the markings of fish species and all are created individually by the Abel art department. If there are more beautiful reels made, we haven't seen them.

The reels are identical and the complexity of the finish determines its price. They take equipment to a new level in capturing the essence of our sport and are the perfect reel for the angler who won't settle for anything but the best.

Hatch Iconic Fly Reels

American Made Excellence

The Iconic reel retains the now "Iconic" Hatch window pattern with 6 fins, recalling the original Finatic model. Instantly identifiable and classic, the Hatch look is simply Iconic. However, they were due for a style upgrade that can be seen in the shape of their drag knob – which brings depth – and their 'H' brand logo. They now use a bright dip finishing that brings out the shine of the machined parts while also keeping the strong coloring of matte anodization.

- Hatch was the first and only reel manufacturer to make the reel body out of one piece.
- Handle design significantly reduces the risk of galvanic corrosion.
- Spool Nut one piece design in order to prevent pieces from coming apart.
- Ported spool arbor which allows lines to dry better on the reel after use.
- Increased sealing by eliminating water entry points from past models.
- The Iconic reel does not utilize a cassette to house the drag system as in the past models – instead, it is now built into the body for improved stability.
- Carbon-filled drag material dissipates heat faster and creates a smoother feel.
- Available in Large Arbor (All sizes), or Mid Arbor (5+ through 11+) special order
- Colors: Black/Silver, Clear/Blue or Grey/Black

Hardy Fortuna Regent Fly Reels

High Performance Saltwater Fly Reels

Iconic fly-fishing brand Hardy continues to surpass expectations in the saltwater space with the Fortuna Regent fly reel. Built to exceed the expectations of competitive saltwater anglers, the Hardy Fortuna Regent reel was designed to deliver effortless control and power under the most demanding conditions. With up to 22 pounds of drag in a single 360-degree rotation you can fight big fish without missing a beat.

Built around a multi pad, carbon fiber disc drag system and housed within a sealed, waterproof hub design, the Hardy Fortuna offers the highest level of sealing yet seen on a Hardy fly reel. In addition, the large arbor spool delivers exceptional line pick up and the narrow spool profile ensures easy level stacking of the line during the heat of the battle.

Built to perform flawlessly, saltwater game species have met their match with the Hardy Fortuna Regent reel.

- Carbon fiber multi-pad disc drag system
- Sealed, waterproof drag housing
- Large arbor design
- Narrow spool profile
- Positive, linear drag adjustment with defined detents for ease of setting
- Optimum drag window within one turn
- High power drag system delivering between 10 lb & 20 lb of top end drag
- Comes in Hardy neoprene reel pouch

Choosing a Spey Reel

TRADITIONAL SPEY anglers prioritize their search for the best reel by capacity, weight, reliability, durability, and price. But aesthetics are often a very important consideration as well. Sometimes the sound a reel makes is more important than it's drag system!

With the exception of switch rods, most double-handed fishing is done on larger rivers by anglers who are chasing big fish. Of course, reliability and performance is critical. But many in the crowd of fanatics would argue that they love the added challenge of fishing with the classic "clicker" reels from the past. High performance saltwater reels work great on spey rods, and can do double duty when it is time for your next tarpon trip. But, the hardcore swingers like making a hard game harder, often preferring the simpler gear and pawl reels with no disc drags at all…and they will all tell you that the sound of a screaming clicker, with a steelhead ripping line off of it, is one of the greatest sounds in fly fishing.

Two-handed rods cast larger and thicker lines. Any appropriate companion spey reel needs adequate capacity (normally 3 line sizes greater than would be proper for single-handed rods – an 8 weight spey rod would be a reel rated for an 11-weight conventional line) and enough weight to counter-balance the long rod. Without the extra weight, your longer fly rod will feel "tip-heavy" during every cast and that will rob you of both casting enjoyment and efficiency.

Galvan Rush LT Reel

The Galvan Rush Light is a fully machined reel, designed and manufactured just down the road from Redding in Sonora, California. They are time-tested, super-durable, and ultra-dependable. The high capacity, larger versions of the Galvan Rush are perfect for both spey and switch anglers.

The Rush shares the same reliable drag system as the Galvan Torque series reels, and have a lot more stopping power than you'll likely ever need. It's a bit heavier than the Torque model, the Rush models balance out better on longer rods, so you can stick to fighting fish, not "tip dive".

Echo Bravo Reel

The Bravo deserves applause for bringing top quality performance without a top-tier price tag! The handsome, super-light Bravo features a partially-sealed drag and is equally at home in both the salt and the fresh water. It's a swell choice for whatever fish you're planning on chasing, and you won't find another spey reel with this capacity and stopping power at this price!

▲ Extra large arbor design ▲ Pitstop carbon fiber stacked drag system
▲ Sealed to keep the salt out ▲ User serviceable drag system
▲ This might be the best-priced reel made that'll hold up to salt and brackish water fly fishing

Hardy 1939 Bougle Heritage Fly Reel

The original Bougle was last produced in 1939, and many collectors believe the reel reached both its functional and aesthetic apex, even though few reels were produced that year. Now, the 1939 Bougle Heritage Reel Series pays homage to those rare originals. These reels feature the time tested Mark II check mechanism and are finished with a dark gun metal anodization, reminiscent of the original.

▲ Classic 1939 style Bougle ▲ Stunning Gun metal colour scheme
▲ Sweet sounding, wide ranging check system ▲ Easily changed from left to right hand wind
▲ Supplied with Hardy Bros. soft leather sheepskin-lined reel pouch

Hardy Model Perfect 4-Inch wide spool

The most perfect of the Model Perfect reels. It's changed very little since its introduction in 1891 and the 4 incher is considered by many experts to be the most classic 7 or 8-weight spey reel ever made for most steelhead, large sea trout or smaller Atlantic salmon.

Model Perfects are machined from solid bar stock aluminum, then hard-anodized for durability and polished to a satin smooth, gunmetal grey finish. Their sweet-sounding spools rotate on stainless steel ball bearings and are held in check by a time-tested, click-and-pawl drag that's rated as among the most reliable in the world of fly fishing. Nothing sounds like a Hardy.

▲ Extra wide spool with enough line and backing capacity for 7 or 8-weight spey rods. #28493 $875

What to know about choosing a

Fly Line

Innovation and technology has given the modern anglers a plethora of terrific, specialized fly line choices!

Necessity is the Mother of Invention

Few would argue that in the fly fishing industry's past decade, fly lines have seen the most technological advancement of any gear in the sport. These improvements in fly lines have changed the way we fish and the effectiveness of our pursuit.

THE SPECIALTY FLY LINES available these days cover every aspect of our sport, including technical dry fly fishing on spring creeks and stillwaters, jungle fishing for Dorado or Peacock Bass, saltwater, bluewater, or throwing mega streamers on Alaskan streams for leopard rainbows.

The majority of the technical advancements in fly lines surround the taper of the line itself. For example, the Scientific Anglers Amplitude Titan/Jungle Floating Fly Line was specifically designed for the Rio Marié in Brazil, the #1 trophy peacock bass fishery in the world. We were struggling to throw the massive flies needed to entice a 20-pound peacock, and when we hooked a beast, more than half the lines broke under the strain of the strike and fight. Something had to be done.

So The Fly Shop®, Scientific Anglers and Untamed Angling put their minds together and after three years of working on prototypes, came up with a fly line that would accurately and efficiently throw an 8-inch long, #5/0 streamer. The lines are built around a braided monofilament tropical core that will retain its integrity, fish after fish, while at the same time keeping the fly line from becoming soft and limp in the tropical heat and humidity. These lines feature S.A.'s proprietary AST Plus slickness additive that is integrally built into the entire line, not just a coating on the surface.

Today, these lines are the choice of hundreds of anglers that travel to the jungle pursuing some of the hardest striking and fighting exotic game fish in the world… and they are the choice of the travel professionals here at The Fly Shop®.

The next three pages detail the exact fly lines we fish and sell to 1000's of anglers each year. They represent the very best in design-with-a-function and durability, and will make you a more efficient and successful angler. And they will make your next fly fishing adventure more enjoyable. Take our word on it, these are the fly lines you want. Call us if you have any questions or would like to discuss any of these fly lines in more detail: 800-669-3474.

The Fly Shop's Freshwater Floating Fly Line Selection

Nowhere else in our sport are the effects of modern technology as apparent. Tapers, coatings, floatation, the texture, color, and performance of modern fly lines continues to improve. Each and every generation of fly lines seem to float higher, cast further, last longer, shoot through the guides with less effort, and make fly fishing easier and more fun. These are the best lines made!

Amplitude Infinity & Mastery Infinity All-Purpose Tapers

These are the most versatile trout fishing fly lines in our line-up. The difference is in the textured finish, Both lines have floating texture on the line's tip to keep it riding like a cork, and shooting texture on the (slightly long) weight forward section to reduce friction, add distance, and make it a lot easier to mend nymph rigs or toss streamers. SA added AST Plus slickness agent to smooth the passage through the guides and extend the line's usable life.

These are half a size heavy to compensate for today's modern fast action fly rods.

Amplitude MPX & Mastery MPX Freshwater Floating Lines

With a bit more mass on the front end of the line's taper, MPX tapers deliver the fly efficiently and effortlessly. All MPX lines are a half line weight heavy to help load fast action rods quickly. They have muscle and the finesse previously only available from lines with longer, less versatile taper profiles. MPX lines truly cover all the bases and rate at the top of the list of all 'round fly lines.

Mastery Trout Double Taper & Mastery Trout Weight Forward Floating Lines

Mastery Trout Tapers feature Advanced Shooting Technology (AST) line coatings to help speed the line through the guides quietly and smoothly. Double taper fly lines are the choice of most small stream enthusiasts. They excel in making delicate short and medium range presentations with little or no commotion. Weight forward tapers generate more line speed and it's easier to cast long distance with them. They'll turn over larger dry flies and are a great choice for most situations.

Amplitude Anadro Floating Fly Line & Mastery Anadro Floating Line

The Fly Shop® and Scientific Anglers teamed up to design this floating fly line for indicator nymph fishing. The results were better than we could have hoped for and the taper is now available in both the Amplitude and the Mastery series. Amplitude lines feature a microtexture finish that differs from the Mastery lines. Tossing large indicators and split shot is a lot easier with the long, 60´+ belly built into this taper, whether roll casting, mending, single-hand spey casting, or lining up a switch rod, there's no better choice than one of the Anadro Floating fly lines.

Mastery Freshwater Titan Taper Floating Fly Line

The Titan fly lines are a great choice for tossing mice in Kamchatka, and big, top-water bass bugs at home. It's our own go-to floating line for Peacock Bass with a popper, or when we're using a long leader and a slightly subsurface streamer in freshwater. The short, heavy front taper turns over air-resistant patterns that a standard weight forward taper couldn't possibly handle, and makes fishing with big dry flies a whole lot easier.

Rio's Elite Gold Floating Line

The addition of the brand new "SlickCast" finish on the Elite fly lines has added an incredible new dimension of durability and distance to their freshwater fly lines. Now, more than ever, the Rio Gold lines can be counted on to toss a stable loop at close or long range, and pitch a fly to the horizon.

Cortland Camo Intermediate Fly Line

Super-stealthy, clear camo line that disappears in the water. Cortland's solid monofilament core is fused to a clear polymer coating formulated to perform in a wide range of temperatures. The ultra-slow sink rate (less than 2 inches per second) keeps the fly in the feeding zone longer than any other line. Our most popular stillwater line.

Amplitude Creek Trout Floating Line

Designed for casting in small creeks where your average weight forward line doesn't make the cut. Short overall head length to match smaller waters with a longer front taper that ensures leader turnover at any distance. Easily handles small dries to larger terrestrial patterns often used on these types of waters.

Specialty Saltwater Fly Lines

Saltwater, stillwater, jungle rivers, fast creeks and rivers, deep lakes, spooky fish, are only a few of the specialty situations that require lines with a tactical advantage. Other destinations might demand extreme distance casting, or require driving a bulky bass, redfish, tarpon, or snook fly into the wind. We've got those, (and more) bases covered.

Amplitude Smooth Grand Slam Line

The highest-performance smooth fly lines in the world. With up to five times less drag and eight times the durability of traditional lines, this will change the way you look at fly line performance. With a short, powerful head the Grand Slam cuts through wind and turns over crabs, shrimp, and tarpon toads with ease. Bonefish, Permit, and Tarpon – All in one line.

Scientific Anglers Seamless Sonar Sinking Fly Lines

These new subsurface fly lines are a huge departure from the graduated density fly lines of years past. They incorporate a smooth, seamless transition between the multiple floating, sinking tip, or different sinking rate sections and eliminate the "hinge effect" that made previous multi-density lines so difficult to cast. The final result in all the Sonar fly lines is a constant, straight connection to the subsurface flies as they drop, and as they swing in the water column.

Scientific Anglers 25-foot Sonar Sinking Tip Fly Lines

These long, high-density sinking tips are backed with a high floating belly and a narrow diameter running line. The configuration adds distance every cast, makes the line easy to mend and control in the water column, and helps to visually detect strikes. Most important, the 25´ sinking tip gets the fly down and into the feeding lane quickly. They're super-productive in large streams and rivers for steelhead, salmon, and trout. and often the answer in slow and deep stillwater and structure fishing for any species.
It's the best 2nd line you'll ever own for a bunch of different freshwater situations. $99.95

Scientific Anglers Sonar Titan Sinking Tip Fly Lines

Perfect for bank bashing streamers or swinging a rabbit streamer in Alaska, the Sonar Titan Sink Tip is the ultimate streamer fishing fly line. Built on SA's Titan taper profile which is compensated to handle the largest of coneheads or lead eyes you want to fish. Sink tip sections are available in two densities (Type 3 & Type 5 sinking rates). Tip lengths are designed to match rod individual weights from 8´to14´ They're great for both wade fishing or casting out of a boat. Streamer fishing has never been so easy! $99.95

Scientific Anglers Titan Triple-Density Sonar Sinking Lines

These sinking fly lines combine three different density sections of fly line and connect anglers to the fly in a straight line at any depth. Triple Density lines begin with a small diameter section of sinking running line which graduates in density (but not diameter) until it connects with the very fast sinking belly and the even faster sinking tip section creating a smooth transfer of energy. It eliminates hinging, transfers power evenly, and the end result is powerful heads that turns over big flies and add distance.

Spey & Switch Lines, Tips & Leaders

Scandinavian (Scandi) Style Floating Shooting Heads

Scandi heads are designed to cast tight loops and make long distance casts as easily and effortlessly as possible. These type of spey lines are ideal for summer and fall steelhead, Atlantic salmon, and sea trout when the fish are aggressive and move to the surface. All our Scandi heads are factory looped on each end.

Scientific Anglers Scandi Lite

Designed for both trout-spey and single-handed spey applications, these short (20´-27´ depending on grain weight) head. The long front taper makes these applicable for swinging soft hackles for trout or small steelhead flies on a long leader. Subsurface presentations can be achieved by looping on a sinking leader without changing the castability of the setup. These heads feature small welded loops on both ends and a rear black "sighter" section for easy identification of the back end of the head. Head tip is printed with the grain weight.

AirFlo Rage Compact Heads

The Rage Heads are full floating shooting heads with aggressive front tapers that'll drive the cast and rapid rear tapers that load the rod quickly. This line will keep you in the "floating" game under extreme windy conditions and in tight quarters. It's a terrific combination of the power of the AirFlo Skagit Compact and adds the delicate surface presentation characteristics of the Scandi heads.

AirFlo Salmon, Steelhead & Sea Trout PolyLeaders

High tech tapered PolyLeaders are the perfect companion to Scandi floating lines. They've quickly become the first choice of sophisticated spey fishermen and are ideal for tossing smaller, lighter sinking or floating flies in shallow or medium depth rivers. PolyLeaders feature supple welded loops at the butt and their use eliminates the need for bulky, stiff tapered leaders and changing them is a snap.

Rio In-Touch Switch Chucker Elite

Designed for Switch rods, whether for overhead or Spey casting, with low-stretch, ultra-slick performance. RIO offers two types of Switch lines; a long head Switch Line, and the short, easy-loading Switch Chucker. Each line has the head and running line seamlessly integrated into each other, which avoids any loop to loop connection running through the guides. The Switch Line is the best choice for anglers that want control of the line and fly at long distance, while the Chucker is best for fishing tight in and for easy casting of big flies, sinking tips and indicator rigs.

Skagit Style Shooting Heads

Skagit shooting heads have short, dynamic tapers designed to generate enough power to deliver deep sinking tips. Head lengths vary from 20 to 30 feet with looped ends. The rear is attached to running line, and tips (either MOW, iMOW or custom) are added to the front, creating a full head and maximum versatility.

AirFlo Skagit Driver

The Skagit Driver design is the culmination of thousands of hours of observation, and field testing. This newest iteration of Skagit Compact rides lower in the water, helping to better load the rod during the cast. The unique density slows the swing down, improves casting efficiency, keeping you connected to your fly through the entire step, cast, swing ritual.

Skagit Driver Heads are available in 30 grain increments, beginning at 360 grains (for a 4/5 rod) and increasing to 720 grains (10 weight). They easily toss heavily weighted flies when connected to a short leader and attached to anywhere from 5´ to 15´ of tungsten.

Rio PowerFlex Ultra Shooting Line

An excellent shooting line for anglers using Skagit or Scandi style shooting heads. Extremely tough outer coating, over a medium stiff Powerflex core that shoots with unbelievable ease for ultra-long casts, increased durability and ensures tangle-free performance. The line's ultra-slick coating floats high on the surface, allowing for reduced drag. Bullet proof welded loops on each end make it fast and easy to rig, while the front loop is large enough to pass an entire shooting head coil through, for maximum speed and efficiency when rigging.

Rio Elite MOW Tips

Powerful level tips designed to cast the biggest flies with ease to cover every likely fishing situation and conditions encountered, and are the absolute ultimate in sinking tip versatility.

▲ Extra Heavy MOW Tips are the heaviest of the MOW series; built with T-17 for the sinking section and with a sink rate of nearly 10″ per second, it really gets down when depth is needed. Each of the tips either have a gray floating section, or a gray loop for easy identification. These tips are ideal on the heavier Skagit lines of 675 grains and more.

▲ Heavy MOW Tips feature T-14, with a sink rate of 9″ per second, for the sinking material. Each of these tips has either a light blue floating section or a blue sleeve on one end for easy identification. The Heavy MOW Tips are designed for the heaviest of flies and are ideal for Skagit lines of 575 grains and more. Six unique tips that make up the series.

▲ Medium MOW Tips feature T-11, with a sink rate of 8″ per second, for the sinking material. Each of these tips has either a light green floating section or a green sleeve on one end for easy identification. Medium MOW Tips are designed for heavily weighted flies and are ideal for Skagit lines between 475 and 575 grains. Six unique tips that make up the series.

▲ Light MOW Tips feature T-8, with a sink rate of 7″ per second, for the sinking material. Each of these tips has either a white floating section or a white sleeve on one end for easy identification. The Light MOW Tips are designed for lightly weighted flies and are ideal for Skagit lines of 475 grains and less. There are six unique tips that make up the series. $29.99

Specialty fly lines for the tropics

Amplitude Titan/Jungle Long Floating Line

The perfect line for big flies in hot places. The Titan taper (+2 line sizes heavy) which is all about delivering big flies with ease in conjunction with SA's proven Tropi-Core materials for maximum performance on the flats or out in the bluewater. This line is exceptionally easy to cast and is perfectly paired on many of today's faster and high performance saltwater fly rods.

- ▲ AST Plus slickness technology for superior shooting
- ▲ Powerful head loads quickly and delivers large flies to distant targets
- ▲ Built two line sizes heavy, use designated line weight for rod
- ▲ Tropi-Core technology remains stiff and slick in tropical environments
- ▲ Black/Horizon/Dark Turtle Grass/Camo
- ▲ 90´ length

Mastery Jungle Custom-Cut Super Sinking Line

This line has no equal when it comes to dredging deep, fast, jungle rivers. The Custom-Cut head marries a 35´ long, T-14 head to a stiff, strong running line and can be trimmed to a length that will perfectly balance any rod from an 8 to 11 weight. With it, you'll be able to get to the bottom quicker than with any other freshwater fly line on the market and put your fly in front of the Payara, Dorado, Peacock Bass or the Costa Rica tarpon often found in extremely fast water or far below the surface

#29823 Blue/Black Welded loop connects easily to backing $99.95

Sonar Tropical/Jungle Clear Intermediate Sink Tip

Every feature of the floating Mastery Jungle Titan Taper was incorporated into the design of the Titan Clear Tip before 15´ of clear, intermediate sinking tip was added. The tapered, looped, clear tip is ideal for stealthy presentations and the 50 lb. core will put the brakes on a trophy Temensis. Veteran Peacock Bass anglers find this to be their first choice and often the only fly line they'll need for the tropics. It is, unquestionably, the most essential fly line developed for Brazil and Bolivia

- ▲ Short, 1 head and front taper loads quickly, turn over stiff leaders and deliver big flies
- ▲ Mastery Texturing for repetitive casts
- ▲ Durable, non-gummy tropical climate coating
- ▲ A stiff, strong, 50 lb. multifilament core won't break off, coil or tangle
- ▲ 105´ Total length

Seaguar Gold Label

Seaguar's thinnest material for stealthier presentations. Not only are thinner leaders even less visible underwater, but you also get the advantage of more natural presentations and better catch-rates on finicky fish. Made with an exclusive double-structure process, they combine two custom Seaguar fluorocarbon resins to create a leader with smaller diameters yet with exceptional knot and tensile strength. It's softer too and cinches easily for fail-safe knots.

Skwala Waders, Jackets, Layering & Clothing Collection

IMAGINE IF SOMEONE put as much time, thought, and effort into designing fishing apparel as you put into finding fish. Someone did; meet Skwala. Skwala Fishing will reset your expectations. You'll never look at your old waders, jackets, sunshirts or fishing pants the same way again. Incorporating the highest quality, most technologically advanced materials into sleek, function-focused design, Skwala makes the most comfortable, highest-performance fishing apparel on the planet. Period. Because, you don't need more fishing gear, you need better fishing gear. You need Skwala.

RS Zippered

Carbon

Skwala RS Zippered Waders

Built for anglers who immerse themselves in long days and even longer seasons, RS Waders set a new standard for durability and comfort. Skwala reimagined fly fishing waders, from a buckle-less, load distributing shoulder yoke; to an integrated, lumbar supporting wading belt; to unique fourchette leg seams for increased mobility and comfort; to reinforced, boot and sock protecting gravel gaiters. If you relentlessly pursue fish – belly-deep in the flow, scrambling over slick-sharp canyon boulders, punching through brambles, briars, and devil's club – RS Waders will reset your expectations.

- 4-layer waterproof/breathable laminate with C6 DWR finish / Ultra-dense 100% polyester microfiber double weave face textile / Anti-microbial treatment on inter or scrim layer
- 4mm neoprene with laminated antimicrobial jersey / Spandura® Yarns in sole panel
- YKK® Aquaseal® & YKK Aquaguard® zippers
- 14 stock men's sizes (Medium-Short thru XXL) $849

Skwala Carbon Waders

Skwala's Carbon fly fishing waders are designed to get you where most anglers can't or won't go. With a minimalist approach that reduces weight and bulk without sacrificing durability; a buckle-less, load distributing shoulder yoke; a magnetic, drop down upper for easy conversion from chest-high to waist-high; and an athletic cut with fourchette leg seams, Carbon Waders feel more like your favorite pair of pants than waders. If you travel across the globe, or just higher up your local creek than most are willing to venture, the Carbon Wader will make sure you arrive dry and comfortable.

- 4-Layer waterproof/breathable laminate with C6 DWR finishing / High-density 100% nylon woven face textile / Anti-microbial treatment on interior scrim layer
- 4mm neoprene laminated with 100% nylon jersey on interior and exterior of bootie. Interior Jersey lining is enhanced with an anti-microbaial finish. Sole Panel utilizes Spandura® Yarns in an abrasion resistant knit structure
- Exterior YKK Aquaguard® zippered cargo pocket
- 14 stock men's sizes (Medium-Short thru XXL) $549

Carbon

Skwala RS Wading Jacket

The RS Jacket sets a new standard for durability, water resistance, and comfort no matter how long the day or the season. Designed to pair with their RS Waders, the RS Jacket provides sanctuary in even the harshest conditions. Featuring a fully taped and stretch-woven internal wrist cuff in addition to a comfortable and easily adjustable outer cuff, your arms will never be wet again. The unique pass through pockets allow cold hands access to body heat trapped in the waders' warming pockets. The generous drop hood keeps water off your face in a downpour but won't bunch around your neck when the jacket is fully zipped and the hood is down. If you relentlessly pursue fish, even on days when most anglers hide behind their tying benches, the RS Jacket will help you stay on the water longer.

- 3-Layer waterproof/breathable Toray Entrant® microporous laminate - 100% Nylon 2-way mechanical stretch-woven face textile / 100% Nylon tricot backer
- 2 zippered chest pockets, 2 zippered pass-through pockets, 2 zippered & fleece lined hand warming pockets, 1 zippered internal pocket
- YKK® Aquaguard® zippers
- 4 stock men's sizes (Medium thru XXL) $499

Skwala Carbon Wading Jacket

Built for anglers who demand flexibility and dexterity but aren't willing to sacrifice comfort, the Carbon Jacket is fully waterproof, truly breathable, and easily packable. Though designed to pair with the Carbon Waders, this shell stands alone – weighing less than a pound and featuring a four-way stretch hard-shell outer layer that moves unlike anything you've ever worn. Whether you travel across the globe, or just higher up your local creek than most are willing to venture, the Carbon Jacket will keep you dry without holding you back.

- 3-Layer waterproof/breathable Toray Entrant® microporous laminate / 100% Nylon Primeflex™ stretch-woven face textile / 100% Nylon circular knit backer
- 2 zippered hip pockets, 1 zippered chest pocket, 1 zippered internal pocket
- YKK® Aquaguard® zippers
- 4 stock men's sizes (Medium thru XXL) $449

Last year I put Skwala's RS jacket and waders through some extreme conditions while steelhead fishing on Kodiak Island, Alaska. A year later, I have about 60 days on them, fishing and hunting, and they perform like the first day I put them on. Thoughtful design, attention to detail, durability, and comfort, are what put these two garments in a class all their own. And I love the zipper, something new to me.

Simms® Breathable Waders

Built for serious fly fishermen, guides, and professionals

Waders from Simms® are made to be worn. Made to last. Made to withstand what hard-core anglers demand in the most extreme river conditions and toughest day-in and day-out wear imaginable. They do all that and are, at the same time, the most comfortable and breatheable waders ever made. That's why they are the 1st choice of most guides and professionals in the world of fly fishing.

The G4 collection that represents the most durable and feature-rich waders on the market, employs five layers of rugged Gore-Tex® Pro Shell fabric, while the ever-popular Freestone model differs primarily in that it uses a 4-layer Toray® QuadraLam™ fabric.

Simms knows waders are equipment and that a poor man can only afford the best. Make sure your days on the water are dry and comfortable. Get the best!

Simms Men's Freestone Stockingfoot Chest Wader

The best value, durability, breathability ratio, performance and quality in a wader. Now 100% more breathable and 60% more durable, the Four-Layer Toray QuadraLam waterproof breathable material provides an unmatched value in a wader.

Patagonia® Waders, Boot & Layering

Waders from the first name in outdoor gear and clothing

Patagonia has built their reputation producing the most comfortable, reliable, and durable outdoor products made, and these waders are no exception!

Three years ago they introduced Swiftcurrent Waders which quickly challenged the other top tier wader on the market for comfort, durability, and price. These waders have gotten rave reviews from our staff, and our client feedback is as terrific.

They are state-of-the-art in terms of their hi-tech, breathable fabric and design. Moreover, every pair of every model of wader undergoes exceptionality rigid quality control testing. They are guaranteed to keep you dry without trapping sweat inside.

It comes as no shock that Patagonia always delivers in spades on durability, and a real testimony to their quality is the fact that the failure rate is zero and not one customer has returned a pair to The Fly Shop® for any reason.

Every pair of Patagonia waders includes all these features:

- ▲ No® Performance Standard recycled polyester microfiber shell with proprietary water proof/breathable barrier and a DWR (durable water repellent) finish; a highly durable and puncture-resistant fabric without multiple layers, added weight, and extra stitching
- ▲ Single-seam construction for durability, gusseted crotch for freedom of movement and comfort
- ▲ Submersible YKK® front pouch zipper is fully waterproof; fully adjustable, quick-release suspender system; top-hem drawcord cinch; Secure Stretch, no-snag wading belt; front and rear belt loops
- ▲ The interior features a welded TPU-waterproof pocket, it flips out for easy access; two drop-in stretch pockets; two internal daisy chains for tools; center-back hanger loop for easy drying
- ▲ The exterior has cozy handwarmer pockets with pocket flaps and a large chest pocket with a horizontal, water-resistant zipper
- ▲ Articulated legs, and heavy-duty scuff guards at ankles
- ▲ Anatomical left and right booties are built from a resilient 4mm Yulex®/neoprene that resist compaction, have a sock-like fit and are polygrid-lined for additional warmth and comfort

Patagonia's Men's Swiftcurrent Expedition Zippered Wader $799

Swiftcurrent Expedition models, with their chest to crotch, ultra-waterproof YKK zipper are engineered for fit, mobility and durability. Patagonia's heaviest weight, most fully featured waders feature an adjustable, quick-release suspender system for conversion from chest to waist height. Includes an interior waterproof pocket, a handwarmer pocket with zip flaps and anatomical booties.

Patagonia Men's Swiftcurrent Expedition Wader $699

Engineered for fit, mobility and durability, Patagonia's heaviest weight, most fully featured waders feature an adjustable, quick-release suspender system for conversion from chest to waist height. Includes an interior waterproof pocket, a handwarmer pocket with zip flaps and anatomical booties. Also include removeable kneepads, which are ideal for those days when you are climbing over rocks and trees.

Patagonia's Men's Swiftcurrent Waders $549

These versatile, midweight breathable waders include every feature listed above. They're lighter and more easily packed than other comparable quality waders. But the real plus is the price tag on the Swiftcurrent Wader, and how well they compare feature-to-feature, with the other top brands in the wader world.

Gear for the Ladies

We've worked with Patagonia and Korkers to bring the very best options we could find for our woman angler friends. We feel that the collection we've put together, with the help of ladies involved in the sport, brings a bit of everything one would need. Of course, we can't be all things to everyone, but the collection on these two pages is a great starting point. Check our online catalog as several of these items, especially colors, will change throughout the year.

Nets & Accessories

FishPond's "Nomad" Net

This is the most durable and practical net we've ever seen!

Super-light, super-durable, built from graphite and fiberglass, these rugged nets are buoyant, weather-proof, and beautiful.

Each model features a heavy, fish-friendly rubber net and the Nomad net frame should outlast wooden models 20 to 1!

#17340	Trophy Brown Trout	26″ long, 13″ x 18″ opening	$135.95
17342	Float Tube & Boat	37″ long, 13″ x 18″ opening	169.95
17341	Steelhead Net	55″ long, 16″ x 25″ opening	249.95

Rising Lunker Landing Net

This aluminum net from Rising was designed by fishermen for fishermen. This heavy-duty net can take a serious beating, yet is light in the hand. The 24″ handle gives you the ideal reach for wade fishing and use in a float tube or pontoon boat. We highly recommend this net for Tenkara fishing for the extra reach. Hoop has built-in measurement indicators.

#21016 Lunker 47″ overall, 12″ x 21″ opening $199

The Fly Shop's Fish-Friendly Nets

Beautifully hand-crafted to last for years, these nets are extremely light and very durable, and a great fly fishing value.

The soft, catch-and-release nets feature fish-friendly rubber mesh to help reduce both abrasion and hook-fouling, and allow fish to be released quickly. Each hardwood net has a double-laminated, durable hoop frame, extremely large hoop area and a shallow, flat bottom rubber mesh net designed to reduce fish stress.

The New Zealand Indicator System

Just when you think you have a perfect system, something better comes along. This is the best indicator we've found. Easy to attach and remove, this kit includes an applicator tool, a sampling of white and chartreuse wool, and 12 inches of size small replacement tubing. It's subtle as it lands on the water, sensitive when fish touch the fly, and won't get bogged down with water. It's the best system for sophisticated spring creeks or clear, ultra-selective trout fishing situations. Watch the instructional video on YouTube: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_OmTgXOER6c

#18366 Strike Indicator Kit (includes, tool, 2 colors of wool, 12″ clear tubing) $18.95

Air-Lock Centerlock™ Indicators

The Centerlock allows for true 90 degree rigging of Nymph rigs as well as running the line straight through on a tapered leader. The conical shape in the core ensures slip resistance against the most ferocious casters!

- ▲ 2 slot sizes accommodate multiple line diameters
- ▲ 3 per package (assorted colors)
- ▲ Available in ½″ or ¾″

#32037 ½″ $10.99
32038 ¾″

Screw-Ball Indicators

These foam balls are secured with a quick turn of the screw, releasing tension on the mono and allowing the indicator to be repositioned without disturbing the integrity of the leader.

- ▲ Available in White, Fl. Green, Chartreuse, Fluorescent Pink, Fluorescent Orange

#ACBIS Small .5″ pkg. of 4 $4.95
ACBIL Large .75″ pkg. of 4

Air-Lock Biodegradable Indicators

Quit sacrificing your tapered leaders to the "bobber gods". The Air-Lock Strike Indicator is ultra buoyant, super visible, durable, easy to adjust, biodegradable, that won't damage the butt section of your leader. Put your leader in the groove and re-attach the nut to the top. Unlike other systems, your leader stays in-line. No matter how many times you adjust your depth, your leader won't get kinked and compromise both your presentation and leader strength. Adjusting your depth is a breeze. Loosen the nut at the top, slide the indicator, then tighten the nut back down. No loops, knots, or kinks!

- ▲ 3 per package

Don't bet your life on cheap, inexpensive float tubes or pontoon boats!

TOP QUALITY FLOATATION devices have safe, well-constructed large diameter pontoons – designed to ride high in the water, so they glide easily and smoothly across water without drag. High floatation requires less energy and makes a long day of fishing a lot more fun. Better models are a one-time investment and often last a lifetime.

Outcast Fish Cat 9 IR

The Fish Cat 9-IR is a great pontoon for the guy that wants to do everything on his own without breaking the bank. It has long pontoons for performance, but is still compact enough to stuff into the trunk or check as baggage on your summer holiday. It's a very stable boat that's safe and stable in most reasonable situations, stillwater, spring creeks and moving water.

▲ 9´ long pontoons, 16˝ diameter ▲ Weighs only 57 pounds
▲ Motor mount included ▲ Over size shipping rate will apply
▲ Easily stored and very effective 7´aluminum, breakdown oars with molded oar stops

#4436 Blue Inflated size: 54˝ x 108˝ $1,209

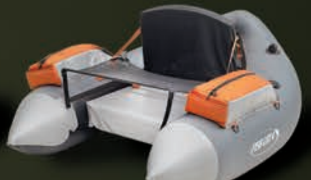
Super Fat Cat LCS



Fish Cat 4

The Outcast Super Fat Cat LCS

Get to the tough spots using the best float tube ever made!

The Super Fat Cat LCS design is a combination of the best features of pontoon boats and float tubes. It rides high on pontoons that are independently contoured and swept up in the normal direction of motion (backwards), The Fat Cat design creates less drag than most other float tubes and requires a lot less effort to glide smoothly across the surface.

▲ Ultra-durable, super-safe, urethane bladders that ride high, resist oxidizing
▲ Supports 300 pounds ▲ Safety stripping apron ▲ Incredibly light (12 lbs.)
▲ 5-Year Warranty ▲ Comfortable, light, inflatable seat and backrest
▲ Super tough, mildew-resistant, abrasion-resistant, 600 Denier PVC bottom

#28504 Gray/Orange Inflated size: 64˝ x 45˝ $599

The Outcast Fish Cat 4

#1 selling float tube in America! With nearly every feature but the price!

The difference between the Fish Cat and the Super Fat Cat is more than the $230 contrast in price. The Fish Cat has a vinyl (not urethane bladder), foam (not inflated) seat and back rest. Weighs a little more than the Super Cat and supports 50 pounds less.

▲ Best selling float tube in the USA! ▲ 250 pound capacity ▲ Safety stripping apron ▲ 5-Year Warranty ▲ Weighs 14 lbs ▲ Foam back and seat rest ▲ Zippered tackle pouch ▲ Above water seating position ▲ 2 vinyl bladders with reliable Boston valves

Firehole Sticks are brought to us from some hard-core Montana anglers, and these guys have developed some truly unique, specialty hook models that aren't found elsewhere!

The Firehole Stick that originally caught our attention is the 516 Jig Hook available in sizes #16, #18, and #20 (the upturned hook point extends the retention point and improves hookups). Several models have distinctive bends and wire configurations not found anywhere else. All Firehole Sticks are barbless, feature razor-sharp points, and sport a stealthy black nickel finish. Firehole Sticks come in convenient packs of 36, that's eleven more than you normally get from most manufacturers. The price on these hooks is unbelievable at $8.35 per pack!

Firehole 315 Sizes 12-18 36/$8.35
Standard length, 2x gape, straight eye, heavy wire.

Firehole 317 Sizes 12-18 36$/8.35
Standard length, 1x gape, straight eye, medium wire.

Firehole 419 Sizes 12-20 36/$8.35
Standard length, 2x wide gape, down eye, light wire.

Firehole 516 Sizes 16-20 36/$8.35
Heavy style jig hook, 60 degree bend, 1x wide gape, standard shank length.

Firehole 633 Sizes 10-18 36/$8.35
1x long, 2x wide gape, down eye, extra heavy wire.

Firehole 637 Sizes 8-16 36/$8.35
Std. length, 1x short, down eye, extra heavy wire.

Firehole 718 Sizes 6-18 36/$8.35
3x long, 2x gape, straight eye, medium-heavy wire.

Firehole 839 Sizes 2-12 36/$8.35

THE FLY SHOP'S

Fly Fishing Schools

OUR EXPERT TEACHING STAFF has a fine-tuned approach to instruction that makes learning the sport easy, fun, and fast. We care about properly introducing the sport of fly fishing to others. It's part of why we've developed one of the premier fly fishing education programs in the country.

Our curriculum includes fly fishing programs for beginner, intermediate, and advanced fly fishers.

3-Day Fly Fishing Schools

This fly fishing school was designed for beginners to deliver the skills and knowledge necessary to pursue the sport on their own. Held at premium lodges and led by certified casting instructors & avid fly anglers, it places an emphasis on the fundametals: casting, basics knots, entomology and fly selection, rigging, and finding fish. All fly fishing equipment, meals, lodging, study guides, instruction and workbooks are included in all of our 3-day schools.

- $1,595 per person double occupancy
- 2,095 per person single occupancy.
- May 9 - 12, August 15-18

1-Day Trout Clinics

The Fly Shop® has several clinics for those who are interested in improving their skills and knowledge to tackle fly fishing for trout in a variety of situations. These one day clinics offer expert instruction that will build upon basic skills in the Freestone Trout Clinic, to more specialized techniques presented in the European Nymphing and Trout Spey Clinics. These day long clinics are designed to take novice fly fishers to the next level.

- Freestone Trout Clinic - to be determined
- European Nymphing Clinic - to be determined
- Trout Spey Clinic - May
- $200 per clinic per person

Women's 3-Day Fly Fishing Schools

A full-on learning experience featuring our fine-tuned instruction curriculum custom tailored to an audience of women-only in a fun-filled, no-pressure and no-testosterone atmosphere.

All tackle is provided and the ladies have ample opportunity to reinforce their lessons in the fish-rich lakes and stream at Antelope Creek Ranch.

- $1,595 per person double occupancy
- 2,095 per person single occupancy.
- August 22 - 25 Women only

Specialized Seminars

Instruction can be tailored for individual anglers, any size group, club organization, or business. We'll build a customized curriculum to match your schedule, skill level, interests or goals; whether it's a one-day introduction to the sport, a clinic to prepare for an exotic fishing trip, or an on-the-water workshop covering the fine points of spey casting. The Fly Shop® team will be glad to tailor a private clinic or seminar at the location of your choice, at Antelope Creek Ranch, or at a park or convenient site near your home or office.

Please write, e-mail or call for information, rates, and the dates for these sessions.

3-Day Spey School

Learn to cast and fish the long rods from a dedicated team of Spey Fishing die-hards led by Chris King, a certified two-handed casting instructor and lifelong steelhead fanatic. Based on the Klamath River estuary at Gold River Lodge during the heart of the summer run steelhead season, this comprehensive fly fishing school will deliver all of the basic concepts and specifics necessary to get you up to speed on the fundamental skills and tactics you need to become a successful Spey fisher.

- ▲ $2,300 per person, single occupancy
- ▲ August 8 - 11

1-Day Spey Casting Clinics

Expert instruction on the Lower Sacramento River with The Fly Shop's Chris King, Two Hand Master Certified Casting Instructor.

Our talented team will be supplemented for this information-packed seminar by regional experts of this two handed casting skill.

Each day's program will start at 9:30 am at a broad gravel bar on the Sacramento River just south of Redding. The morning program will start with some informal discussions on Spey casting, followed by several hours of Spey casting demonstrations and one-on-one instruction.

- ▲ $295 per person.
- ▲ November 8 or 9

The Perfect Fly Fishing Campus

Antelope Creek Ranch on the north slope of Mount Shasta has a terrific lodge, two miles of private stream, a couple of trophy trout-filled lakes and is the ideal outdoor fly fishing classroom!

IT IS THE PERFECT PLACE to begin to master the sport. Students have a chance to put their new fly fishing lessons into practice right away and the opportunity to refine their skills with real-time angling action in fisherman-friendly situation.

Students will enjoy wonderful accommodations, delicious meals, and are taught in an informal lodge atmosphere. There is plenty of room at the lodge for as many as a dozen students and single occupancy accommodations are an option.

THE FLY SHOP'S

FishCamp™ for kids & families

Our award-winning summer camps are located in the perfect outdoor campus. It is the ideal way for young boys and girls (age 10-15) or kids with their families to learn to master and enjoy the sport of fly fishing.

FISHCAMPERS LEARN the fundamental casting and fly fishing techniques, fly tying, and a variety of outdoor skills that will stay with them the rest of their lives.

They'll meet other junior anglers with the same interests and have a ball catching (and releasing) lots of trout in our fish-filled stream and our productive lakes on flies they'll have tied themselves.

During their 5-day stay at Antelope Creek Ranch, campers are supervised by professionals, taught by patient experts, and surrounded by miles of private stream and fish-filled lakes that provide the ideal fresh-air fly fishing classroom, where they'll have fun while reinforcing the instruction with angling action.

We first opened our tent flaps to generations of future fly fishers in 1998, and over the years we've developed the finest youth fly fishing camp in the nation. This is the ideal place to instill permanent enthusiasm, ensure success, and guarantee your FishCampers develop correct habits

Our ranch is our classroom!
Our fences surround two miles of private streams and two trophy trout-filled lakes.
